Boyology Course Has New Recruits

Forty Men Join the Hundred Who Attended First Session—Playground Association Speaker Stresses Need of Playgrounds in Kingston.

The Boyology course being given at the Knights of Columbus building by Joseph D. Becker, national field secretary of the Boys' Life Bureau of the K. of C., was well attended Thursday night, when the 100 men who started the course the previous night were augmented by 40 recruits. The new-comers fell right in line with the rest of the "gangs" organized at the opening meeting and thoroughly enjoyed the proceedings from which they gained a wealth of knowledge concerning the boy problem.

The men who visited the Knights' Home for the first time Thursday were heard to say, "We'll be back tomorrow night to continue the course. It puts across a great message in an attractive and instructive way." The men, taken back to their boyhood days, were initiated into the "Royal Order of Siam" Thursday night which taught a wonderful lesson. They heard a talk by Mr. Becker entitled, "Knighthood of Youth," that explained the many attractive ways of helping a boy or girl to attain the virtues that go to make up the desirable American citizen. The talk dealt with a means of letting the child rely upon himself, under the watchful eye of a parent or guardian. The boy is to be given a chart that lists a number of things he is to do and at the end of each day the child checks up to see how well he has completed the obligations. The method is to promote the formation of good habits, which form the proper character.

Says Playgrounds Are Needed.

The feature of the Thursday night's course was a talk by A. R. Wellington, national representative of the Playground Recreation Association of America. The speaker, an authority on his subject, pointed out the great part playgrounds play in the life of a community.

He said Kingston is back in the line of playgrounds and urged that the men taking the Boyology course work for the establishing of these in this city. He said that the expenditure of taxpayers' money to promote playgrounds is as important as paying for the upkeep of the streets. Recreational centers act as a magnet in drawing industries to cities, as was illustrated by examples. The speaker told of many cities of the United States whose population has been increased by proper recreational parks.

Play Must Be Supervised

Mr. Wellington stressed the point that playgrounds must be properly supervised in order to benefit children. If not the older ones make it disagreeable for the small children. In other instances many youths have been led into bad companionship through the lack of proper supervision. Playgrounds form protection for children, the men were told, in that they are kept off the city streets, where they naturally play if parks are not provided. Last year approximately 5,500 children were killed while playing in the streets.

The speaker said the Playground Recreational Association is glad to assist any city to plan for the establishing of playgrounds and would be pleased to help Kingston. There can be no profit made by the association for services rendered, Mr. Wellington said.

Sheldon to Speak Tonight

Tonight's meeting will start at 8 o'clock promptly. It is expected that the ranks of those taking the course will be swelled considerably when the meeting is opened. The course is available to all creeds, who are cordially invited to attend. Tonight the "gangs" will sing their songs. The main speaker tonight will be Rollin C. Sheldon, secretary of the Big Brotherhood Federation, who presents his topic in a very interesting manner.

COLLECTOR ELTING BEGINS PROBE OF ACCUSED GUARDS

Stories of liquor smuggling and bootlegging industries that followed the suspension last Saturday of eighteen customs guards of the Chelsea piers have been grossly exaggerated, in the opinion of Philip Elting, Collector of the Port of New York. The hearings began in secret yesterday, with the collector determined to give every man "a fair hearing and a square deal."

Asked to comment on the statement of Representative La Guardia that the latter would "get Elting's job" if the investigation of the charges against the eighteen men turned into a whitewash, the collector said he was not concerned over the statement. He added that he would do everything he could to learn the facts.

The committee chosen by Mr. Elting to hear the charges went into session behind locked doors and will continue to meet until every man has been heard.

At the close of the hearings the evidence will go to the Treasury Department. Mr. Elting will start tomorrow night for the Republican convention in Kansas City and will leave the hearings in charge of Henry C. Stuart, assistant collector, if they are not finished by then.

Boatload of Gin Sunk in Lake

One Case Was Saved by an Intrepid Rum Chaser Who Rescued It from Sinking Boat to Use as Evidence.

Rochester, June 8 (AP).—Two alleged rum runners were fished from the waters of Lake Ontario today after they scuttled their cabin cruiser. A coast guardsman dove into the lake, swam to the sinking vessel and salvaged a case of alleged gin for evidence.

The men gave their names as William Sheldon, Rochester, and Walter Simpson of Syracuse.

Coastguard Cutter No. 211 was 19 miles off Charlotte Light before daylight when its crew sighted a boat running without lights. The craft sped away when ordered to halt and four blank shots were fired from the cutter. After a race of a mile the cutter overhauled the slower boat.

As the guardsmen prepared to board the rum runner it started to sink. Sheldon and Simpson ran on deck, donned life preservers and leaped into the water. While guardsmen pulled them aboard Machinist Dudley Currier swam to the sinking motorboat and supported the case of alleged liquor until his companions could come to his aid.

Sheldon and Simpson said their boat contained 150 cases of gin. They were held pending arraignment before United States Commissioner Phillips.

Adjourn "Dry" Hearings Here

Owing to failure to receive notice in time on request of their attorney, Franklin R. Schryver, the hearing before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly in this city set down for Thursday afternoon, against Lewis Cohen, Harry Cohen, George Welch, Andrew Richardson, Benjamin Weiner, Ima Cohen and Samuel Cohen, was adjourned until June 11, at 2 p. m.

The seven are charged with conspiracy in having in operation two large stills located on a farm at Randalltown, near Florida, Orange county. Federal officers from Kingston and State Troopers made the raid and besides destroying the stills seized a quantity of alleged liquor and arrested the men. They were taken before George Farrell, Jr., at Goshen, a justice of the peace, who held them under $1,000 bail each to appear before Commissioner Connelly on June 7.

Hudson Man Gives Bond.

John Martino of Hudson was arraigned on Thursday afternoon before Commissioner Connelly on a charge of possession of alleged liquor, his place having been raided by Federal men several days ago, as were twenty other places. Martino gave a permanent bond in $500 to await the action of the Federal grand jury in New York. He was represented by Judge Moy of Hudson.

War Veterans To Have Home

Building Committee of Joyce-Schirick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Arranges to Purchase Former Colonel McEntee Home.

The building committee of the Joyce-Schirick Post, No. 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, are arranging to purchase the former Colonel John McEntee home on East Chestnut street which will be used as headquarters for the members of the organization.

The McEntee house is located at 12 East Chestnut street and contains ten rooms and has recently been modernized throughout. The property has a frontage of 150 feet on Stuyvesant street, 300 feet on Livingston street and 150 feet on East Chestnut street.

The members of the Post expect to make some changes in the building to fit it as a club house, and it is expected that practically all of the work will be done by members of the organization. The Post is also planning to secure some war trophies to be placed on the grounds.

Another Man Bitten by Dog

Walter B. Pettinger of 129 Prospect street was bitten by a dog owned by Joseph Johnson of North Front street while walking along Hurley avenue on Thursday, according to a report made to the police department. Dr. E. H. Loughran, city health officer, cauterized the wound.

Thursday afternoon Frank Geto, who lives at the Staples brickyard on North street, reported to the police that Wednesday night his dog had been bitten by another dog, and that all day Thursday his dog had been acting queerly. He requested that the police kill his dog, which was done.

Mexican Insurgent Executed.

Guadalajara, Mexico, June 8 (AP).—Julian Fernandez, insurgent leader, has been executed after being found travelling incognito aboard a train bound for Guadalajara from Mexico City.

Home Missions Needed, Says Berg

Lutheran Pastor, Who is Mayor of Mt. Vernon, Stresses Need of Greater Home Mission Work to Prevent Crime.

"To make America Christian we need more preachers as statesmen and statesmen as preachers," said the Rev. James Berg, mayor of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and superintendent of Missions of the Lutheran Synod of New York and New England, at the Thursday morning session of the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Synod in St. John's Lutheran Church, Poughkeepsie. He had come to the Synod meeting from the conference of mayors and municipal officials of New York state at Troy, and he told his fellow pastors that he had found among the mayors as earnest a desire to better conditions for the people as he had found in the church; and, like the pastors' meeting, the mayors' meeting opened with prayer.

America is the most criminal country in the world, according to the head of the Northern New York Division of the state police schools," said Pastor Berg. "Last year the sum of fifteen billion dollars was spent in dealing with crime prevention, including that spent on the courts and penal institutions—half the debt of the United States government! In the city of Chicago last year there were 222 homicides, and peaceful New York was only one homicide behind. In the whole of England and Wales during the same period there were only 181 homicides. In the United States 85 per cent of the criminals are never caught, and in the view of the police school head, the way to change this was to have better training schools for policemen to produce better policemen to catch criminals.

"We, however, as churchmen believe that the only way to make America really Christian is by the spreading of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Which means that we need a greater interest in home missions. The Synod is growing by leaps and bounds but, despite this, we are not taking our home mission work seriously enough and we lack adequate funds. During the past year our appropriations from the Board of American Missions did not provide funds for three of our missions, and we were left with only $125 for emergency work."

RADIUM PAINT INVENTOR VICTIM OF HIS INVENTION

New York, June 8 (AP).—The New York Times says today that Dr. S. A. Von Soshocky, inventor of the radium paint which is said to have doomed five New Jersey women to a slow death, is a victim of his own invention.

The paper says that although the doctor was reticent to talk about himself marks of the inroads of illness were plainly evident. His front teeth are gone and his fingers up to the second knuckle are black, the result of radium necrosis.

SWEDISH EXPEDITION WILL START TOMORROW

Stockholm, June 8 (AP).—The Swedish expedition which will assist in the search for the dirigible Italia will begin getting under way tomorrow with the expectation that most of the members will reach Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, in the middle of next week.

The Norwegian steamer Quest and the Swedish steamer Taboa will be used. The Taboa will carry three planes.

MRS. KNAPP RESTING AT HOME OF RELATIVES

Bedford, Mass., June 8 (AP).—Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of State of New York, is resting at the home of relatives here, still suffering from the nervous breakdown which followed her conviction of larceny of state census funds.

Dr. Theodore W. Ely, who is attending her, said that her condition might be described as serious but that there was no immediate danger of a change for the worse.

He said she would remain here until she was able to stand the strain of travel.

Hunger Strike in Irish Jail.

Belmast, Northern Ireland, June 8 (AP).—The agent of the Irish Republic party said today that five women prisoners at Montjoy Jail, Dublin, had been on a hunger strike since Tuesday. They claimed they were political prisoners and demanded political treatment.

Kingstonian to Close Mission.

The Rev. John L. Kenny, native of Kingston, who has many friends here, has been giving a mission at St. John's parish, Stony Hollow, of which Father Spellman is pastor. He will close the mission on Sunday at the 9 o'clock Mass.

Strawberry Festival Sunday.

The members and friends of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Congregation Ahavath Israel are invited to attend a strawberry festival in the congregation hall, 72 Wurts street, Sunday, June 10, at 8 p. m., sharp.

Dugan's Sentence Suspended.

William Dugan was arrested Thursday by Officer Roedell who charged Dugan with public intoxication. This morning in police court Dugan was given a suspended sentence.

Strategists May Vote for Coolidge To Block Hoover

In Search for Rallying Standard, They Suggested Wisdom of Switching Some of Their Own Votes to Coolidge on Opening Ballot—Pennsylvania Delegation May Determine Contest.

Kansas City, June 8 (AP).—The line of battle for the Republican Presidential nomination stood clearly defined today between Herbert Hoover and a determined group organized and pledged to defeat him.

Mobilized to stem the cabinet member's progress toward the nomination the combined strength of Lowden, Curtis, Watson, Goff and the remnants of the Willis organization has fixed one immediate objective—the blocking of Hoover's selection on an early ballot.

With forces thus organized, the strategy councils of the combined opposition now are canvassing the means by which they can prevent Hoover from getting the necessary 545 nominating votes. The aim of these strategists is to hold intact the votes of their own candidates while endeavoring to wean from the Hoover and doubtful delegations enough strength to keep the issue in doubt.

May Vote for Coolidge.

Analyzing Hoover's second choice support as his weakest point, the opposition councilors are searching for a rallying standard toward which that support might be drawn. Some of them have injected the name of President Coolidge as a magnet that they believe might prove irresistible and accordingly have suggested the wisdom of switching some of their own votes to Coolidge on the opening ballot.

The allied leaders defended that theory as a means of maintaining Coolidge as a possibility before the convention and thus prevent a stampede to the Hoover bandwagon. Not a few of the strategists recognized that any appreciable movement to Coolidge might not only defeat Hoover but also the coalition candidates, but the statement often was heard at allied headquarters that Coolidge would be better for them than Hoover.

Hoover Forces Still Confident.

All these activities in the enemy camp, which now will be under the command of Louis L. Emmerson, Republican gubernatorial nominee of Illinois, found the Hoover forces still confident and clinging to their claim of at least 500 votes on the first ballot.

The possibility of injection of Coolidge into the fray produced little reaction in the Hoover ranks, where it was remarked that the whole campaign for the commerce secretary has been based on the conviction that the president had definitely eliminated himself.

The Hoover forces continued their activities among the delegates, leaving no stone unturned to hold every vote already considered in their column and to add as many more as possible. These efforts included a statement by James W. Good, the Hoover manager, appealing for party harmony and pointing to the November elections as a time when Republicans must stand together.

Both Groups Bank on Mellon.

Both the Hoover and allied groups are banking heavily on the still doubtful and powerful delegation that Secretary Mellon is bringing from Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania strength of 79 votes is looked upon by Hoover men as sufficient to put their chief over, and the opposition likewise regards it as big enough to swing the pendulum the other way.

While Secretary Mellon is viewed as the dominant influence in the delegation and it is to him that both sides look, Hoover boosters contend that a number of the Keystoners are favorable to the commerce secretary and will exert all possible pressure upon Mellon to swing him with them.

Some observers here expect the Pennsylvania delegation to give its leader a complimentary vote for the nomination on the first ballot and in that situation they see a possibility of interesting complications. The anti-Hoover group would prefer that Mellon receive his state's vote indefinitely rather than see it go to Hoover, on the theory that the withholding of the 79 vote block might serve their ends.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE PREMIER TANAKA OF JAPAN.

Tokyo, June 8 (AP).—Alert members of his bodyguard today frustrated an attempt to assassinate Baron Giichi Tanaka, Premier of Japan, in the Uyeno Railway Station. The assassin, dressed in the clothes of a laborer, tried to stab him with a dagger. He was arrested. Baron Tanaka was not hurt.

The premier was enroute to Utsonomiya to attend a meeting of his party, the Seiyukai.

Mail in China Interrupted.

Tientsin, China, June 8 (AP).—No mail was received here from Peking yesterday. It was uncertain today whether the mail from Tientsin reached Peking.

Flower Thieves at Park.

Flower thieves are at work at Academy Park, opposite the Governor Clinton Hotel, and several of the plants that were recently set out have been stolen from the grounds.

Cases Tried In County Court

Glasco Man Loses Suit for Services in Investigating Auto Theft—New Paltz Plumber Wins Suit for Work.

A verdict of no cause of action was returned Thursday in the [illegible] tried in county court in which Salvatore Mayone of Glasco [illegible] to recover $85 [illegible] from [illegible] and wife for services rendered. Plaintiff claimed that he [illegible] hired by the defendants to assist them in investigating the theft of an automobile of the defendants and to act as their agent and interpreter in the transactions. In addition he alleged that they had agreed to make him a present of $50 over and above expenses. Thomas F. Coughlin appeared for plaintiff and William D. Brinnier, Jr., for the defendants.

An action on contract was taken up late Thursday and sent to the jury and a verdict in the sum of $125 for plaintiff was later returned. Harry Knuffen, New Paltz plumber, brought action against John Messmer, also of New Paltz, for $125 balance due on a plumbing contract which plaintiff did in 1926 for defendant. The job was done in a house on Plutarch road and in a refreshment stand and dwelling rooms in connection. Plaintiff alleged that he had completed the work and had been paid all of his bill except $125. After repeated demands for payment, suit was brought in justice's court and from the verdict there rendered an appeal was taken to county court. Defendant alleged that the work was not satisfactory, that certain pipes in the cellar were not covered to prevent freezing as agreed on and that the toilet would not work properly, the kitchen sink was cracked and there were other errors and mistakes in the job including the wrong location of one of the sinks.

Peter H. Harp appeared for plaintiff and John Wadlin for defendant.

Following the verdict for plaintiff court went into recess until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. An extra panel of jurors will report Tuesday, and Tuesday afternoon it is expected that the trial of criminal cases will be taken up.

ELLENVILLE POLICE CHIEF NARROWLY ESCAPES INJURY

The Ellenville chief of police, Hal P. Ross, narrowly escaped injury Sunday when in a collision he was hurled from his motorcycle. He was proceeding to the Home National Bank to investigate why the burglar alarm had sounded when a car driven by Jacob Newman of New York city backed into his path. The cycle struck the car, throwing Ross to the curb. He escaped injury but the machine he was riding was badly damaged.

Newman was fined $5 by Judge Moffit for turning in the middle of the block. He made a written statement taking full responsibility for the accident. The matter will be taken up with a company in which Newman is insured.

PAPERS SERVED IN ACTION FOR ACCOUNTING.

The Central Union Trust Company of New York city as trustee for bondholders has served papers in an action against the officers, directors and stockholders of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad company for an accounting of the moneys received by the railroad from the city of New York as damages as a result of the construction of the Ashokan reservoir. The bond issue, for $2,000,000, became due June 1, 1925, and while interest was paid on the coupons of that date, no effort has been made to pay the principal.

PULLMAN CAR STRIKE HAS BEEN POSTPONED

New York, June 8 (AP).—A threatened strike of 11,000 Pullman car porters and maids, called for noon today, has been indefinitely postponed.

A. Philip Randolph, organizer of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, in making the announcement, said that the strike was deferred on the advice of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who held that economic conditions were unfavorable.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs John Collins, 3 Rodney street, a daughter, at the Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Izzo, 237 Greenkill avenue, a son, Joseph Louis, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Shields, Accord, a son, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mrs. Nelting Granted Divorce.

On the 21st day of April, 1928, an interlocutory decree of divorce was granted Mrs. Helen S. Nelting of 59 Gill street, Kingston, New York, against her husband, George L. Nelting of 29 Grove street, at a special term of the Supreme court held by Justice Pierce H. Russell at Troy.

Business Men's Executives to Meet.

The executive committee of the Downtown Business Men's Association will hold a very important meeting Tuesday, June 12, at 8:30 p. m. in the rooms at 22 Ferry street.

Watts Heads Civil Service Board

The annual meeting of the M[illegible] [illegible] Holy [illegible] secretary.

[illegible] members of the force.

A [illegible] was passed by the board commending [illegible] year.

Authorization was given the secretary of the board to furnish the police board, upon request, with an eligible list from which to make appointments to fill vacancies now existing and to cooperate in every way with the police board in their endeavor to select good applicants for the appointments.

Plans for the ensuing year were discussed by the board.

Members of the board who were present at the annual meeting were Commissioners John A. Fischer and James S. McAndrews.

Harry S. Watts, the president of the board, who has just been reappointed by Mayor E. J. Dempsey for the term of six years, has served under Mayors Canfield, Crane, Block and Dempsey, and is the popular manager of the Watts & Tammany coal office on the Strand.

Southern Cross Nearing Goal

Suva, Fiji, June 8 (AP).—The dream of two Australian aviators to be the first to fly from America to their homeland was approaching realization today as the monoplane Southern Cross roared over southern seas on its way to Brisbane, capital of Queensland.

The large tri-motored monoplane hopped off this afternoon from Naselai Beach, sixteen miles from Suva, on the Island of Viti Levu, and, heading across 1,762 miles of water, was expected to land in Brisbane in about nineteen or twenty hours.

Portland, Ore., June 8 (AP).—At 7:30 a. m. (Pacific coast time) the Mackay radio station here reported the Southern Cross signals coming in strong, plane apparently making good progress and believed to be within approximately 450 miles of Brisbane.

Honolulu, June 8 (AP).—The monoplane Southern Cross was 489 miles from Brisbane, said a radio message received from it at 9:15 a. m. She was 24.42 south; the longitude 161.36 east.

Honolulu, June 8 (AP).—The Southern Cross was 555 miles from Brisbane, Australia, at 8 a. m. (Pacific coast time) today on its flight from the Fiji Islands. A message from the plane at that hour gave its position as latitude 24.45 south and longitude 162.43 east.

Boll Plane May Fly Tomorrow

Curtiss Field, N. Y., June 8 (AP).—The monoplane Columbia with Miss Mabel Boll as passenger, will probably make a second attempt at dawn tomorrow to fly from here to Old Orchard, Maine, the first leg of a transatlantic flight.

Captain Arthur Argles, co-pilot of the Columbia, telephoned the flying field this morning, saying that he would inspect the motor this afternoon, but that the flight would not get under way before dawn tomorrow.

Friendship Held By Bad Weather

Trepassey, N. F., June 8 (AP).—Fog and a light southeast wind prevented any attempt today to lift the monoplane friendship from the harbor here and start for Europe. The three fliers, Wilmer Stultz, pilot, Louis Gordon mechanic, and Miss Amelia Earhart, passenger and relief pilot slept late and it was not until 7:30 o'clock local time (6 a. m. eastern daylight), that any of them left their boarding house.

Italia Calls A False Alarm

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, June 8 (AP).—The Citta Di Milano was sending out incessant calls to the missing dirigible Italia today but was unable to get any answer. It was feared, therefore, that the weak signals, which the vessel's radio operator said he picked up yesterday did not emanate from the missing airship.

General Coxey a Candidate.

Columbus, Ohio, June 8 (AP).—Jacob Sechler Coxey, Sr., of Massillon, today filed his declaration of candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, for the unexpired term ending March 4, 1933. He was the leader of the famous Coxey's Army.

Lutherans Talk Of Home Problem

School and Church Have Taken Over Many Functions of the Home, Says One Pastor—Mission Workers Cannot Make a Man Love His Wife.

The problem of the home in modern America formed the topic of a discussion during the closing stages of the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Lutheran Synod of New York and New England in St. John's Lutheran Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The Rev. E. E. Fischer, D. D., of Philadelphia Theological Seminary, led the discussion, and claimed that a vigorous education propaganda, under conservative auspices, was needed if the present trend toward increased divorce and the disruption of homes were to be stayed.

"The family must again be exalted as the unit of social organization," he said. "It is within the intimate family circle that the individual must learn the fundamental lessons of obedience, reverence, altruism and self-control."

The Rev. John H. Dudde, St. Paul's Church, Liverpool, N. Y., said that if pastors remembered that to them was intrusted the cure of souls rather than the supervision of innumerable social activities they might help to prevent wreckage in the home. "Even in apparently happy Christian homes," he stated, "there are heartaches that bring the home to the verge of destruction, and which might be relieved by a sympathetic pastor."

One Way to Save Homes.

The Rev. Henry J. Berkobin, of the Inner Mission Society, Brooklyn, N. Y., claimed that one way to save many a home was by a keener interest in the Inner Mission Society, whose purpose it was to save the home.

The Rev. Clarence E. Krumbholz, superintendent of the Inner Mission Society, New York city, said it was impossible for the majority of modern homes to exercise the rights and privileges of the home outlined by Professor Fischer.

"The school and the church," he said, "have taken over many of the functions of the home because the home cannot deal with them. A family living in three or four rooms cluttered with beds cannot make itself a social centre. The Inner Mission Society has to deal not with the fine Christian home but with the homes of the rank and file of America's unchurched masses. Every family bond today has broken save the bond of affection. Mission workers have no technique for making a man love his wife. They can, however, seek to transmit the spiritual love which Christ has brought.

More Churches Make Confession.

"To think that multiplying churches in districts already overchurched would help to reduce crime is ridiculous," he added. "The multiplicity of churches has sometimes actually wrought confusion in people's mind instead of making for the upbuilding of human lives."

"Our happiness cannot be complete," said Pastor Arnold F. Keller, Church of the Redeemer, Utica, N. Y., "unless we establish the right of the individual to happiness. The basis of the home is not self-renunciation; it is love. Certain homes ought to disintegrate. When love goes religion may be a temporary white-wash but it will not keep the family together."

Pastor Krumbholz: "I was not talking of the kind of religion that is a whitewash but the kind that is cement!"

At a previous session the Synod unanimously reaffirmed its readiness to merge with the New York Synod and the New York Ministerium to form the United Lutheran Synod of New York. Final action is expected on the part of the Ministerium in New York city, June 18-20, and if favorable the merger may take place in the fall.

SOOTHSAYERS GUIDED MARSHAL CHANG'S POLICY.

Peking, June 8 (AP).—Soothsayers probably played a part in the decision of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin to abandon Peking to the Nationalists.

Chang retains much of the ancient Chinese belief in the powers of heavenly signs to direct human affairs. Members of his entourage said two astrologers gained an influence over him that recalled the power of their prototypes in the camps of the Greeks before Troy, whose divinations were recorded in detail by Homer.

One of the Chinese astrologers goes under the professional name of "Great Benevolence". He is a 77 year old Buddhist monk from Hunan province. The reputation he enjoyed there caused him to be summoned to Chang's court. His confrere is known as "Iron Mouth", a name chosen to signify that his words are as dependable as that metal.

"Iron Mouth", when Peking was rejoicing over victories in Honan in the spring of 1927, predicted that misfortune was imminent. Almost on the day named came the defeat which caused the northern retreat from south of the Yellow River a year ago.

Not until the astrologers had pronounced the signs favorable did Marshal Chang take up his residence in the presidential palace in June, 1927. On the advice of "Great Benevolence" he assumed office as a purely military dictator, rejecting proposals to make him president.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 8, 1928.

Washington Square in Chicago, having become the gathering place of soap-box orators and vocal "cranks" of every name and order, is now popularly known as "Bughouse Square".

Still another Mary who "had a little lamb" has turned up. Their unforeseen prevalence and smiling expectancy must be found a trifle embarrassing by even so well-furnished an enthusiast as Henry Ford.

There is announcement of a Tufts College summer school for parents "to make them fit to live with their children." Presumably the returning parents will point defensively to their diplomas when the children tell them of their shortcomings.

It looks as if there is no better way to "bring out the vote" than to make daylight-saving time an issue. When Warren, Pa., voted down daylight saving time the other day more than twice as many ballots were cast as in the last regular election. No doubt this would prove a very live issue in every part of the country where "daylight" is now being "saved".

According to the Buffalo Courier-Express, Detroit's liquor business, including smuggling (from Canada), manufacturing and distribution, is estimated to employ 50,000 persons, with an annual output valued at $215,000,000—a vast business second only to the automobile industry. In view of these figures, the Courier-Express wonders "whether Presidential candidates, when they pledge themselves to enforcement of the Volstead act, mean the kind of enforcement under which bootlegging is reported to have become Detroit's second biggest industry."

In these up-to-date times the "innocent bystander" is in harder luck than ever. In New York the other day four chauffeurs waiting for business in front of a restaurant were forcibly herded inside for safety by the bandits who held up the place, and after the raid were mistaken for the robbers by the hasty police, who shot and killed one of them and injured the other three so seriously that they had to be taken to a hospital—the bandits meanwhile making a getaway with their loot. That college professor who insists that half the people of this country are morons would perhaps include all policemen.

DISILLUSIONED.

Five reasons why there can be no hope of the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, or even of the Volstead act, are often cited—the women, the churches, the bootleggers, the capitalists and the grape growers. But there would seem to be indications that "the women" may not always be mentioned first among these five supposedly impregnable bulwarks of prohibition. At any rate, still another prominent woman prohibitionist has frankly announced her "disillusion". Miss Ida M. Tarbell, distinguished author and lecturer, who first achieved fame by her searching and unflattering history of Standard Oil, has come out for modification in a frank article in the Delineator. Her observations and investigations have convinced her that the present situation, morally and from a patriotic point of view, is worse than before prohibition, and she solemnly asks what is to be or can be done about it. An impressive passage from her article, in which she reveals sincere concern for the national welfare, reads as follows:

Today the situation we are now in is most difficult and trying for the great body of sincere and consistent prohibitionists who have labored for years for a national amendment, believing that it would put an immediate end to all forms of intemperance. If they are frank and open-eyed, and many of them are, they are suffering the painful disillusionment which inevitably comes to reformers who believe the evil they hate can be cured by law or formulas alone.

A "WORLD LANGUAGE".

English alone is likely to become the universal language, there is little chance for any other spoken tongue to do so, and there is absolutely no possibility that anyone of the manufactured languages will ever become the universal, international medium, so says to the dictum of Prof. R. E. Zachrisson, a Swedish scholar, who is quoted as saying that Esperanto, Ido or the other artificial languages are much harder to learn than English, that English is now understood by hundreds of people in all parts of the world and that the linguistic conquest it already has achieved is proof, if ever proof were needed, that it is now well on its way toward universal adoption. Prof. Zachrisson reports that, as shown by a careful investigation in Stockholm, English is the only foreign language of which a majority of those interviewed have a fair knowledge, that in all of 109 favored English as a world language, that 19 voted for Esperanto, 14 for Ido, six for Spanish, four for French, two for German, two for Latin, and only one each for Italian and Swedish.

Educated Swedes are said to be interested and ready linguists, but investigations in other countries would no doubt show different results. It is altogether probable that English is to become the most widely employed language in international intercourse, far outclassing the former pre-eminence of French in this particular, but that there will ever be a universal or "world language" is most improbable, not to say impossible. People want the flavor of their own tongue rooted in the very fundamentals of the homeland, and this is why the manufactured languages lacking in this flavor—this living spark or soul—are making no real progress.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

As you know the usual way to estimate what your systolic blood pressure should be is to add 100 to your age.

This is considered fair enough by the insurance examiners until it reaches about 145, and then they would prefer to have it remain at that no matter how old you get.

However, when a blood pressure is much above that and remains high they will not accept the risk.

So that when you hear of folks with a systolic pressure of over 200, you can imagine that not only will the insurance companies refuse them, but the doctor himself is anxious as to their safety.

And yet this very high blood pressure may be due to just some infection in the body, and Nature in an endeavor to fight it has increased the rate of the heart beat, and also the blood pressure.

Dr. L. N. Boston of Philadelphia reports a series of 20 patients between 30 and 50 years old, and 25 patients of over 50 years, all of whom showed a systolic pressure of over 200.

These were all selected cases in which there was no trouble to be found except a "focal" infection, which means some definite infection that can be localized or placed, such as infected teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder, and so forth.

By removing the infections in all these cases there were 22 patients cured, 13 improved, and nine unimproved, and one not followed.

Now by cured is meant that the blood pressure was restored to normal, with the disappearance of the annoying symptoms that accompany high blood pressure.

When we think about this that only nine of the entire forty-five were unimproved, it certainly proves that the knowledge that you have a high blood pressure, should not have the effect of having you lie down and be ever afraid of a paralytic stroke, but should make you let your family doctor continue a lengthy search to try and locate a possible focal infection.

That the removal of the focal infection reduced the blood pressure to normal was proven by the fact that there was no increase in the blood pressure of these patients one year after the defects were removed.

St. Paul's Men's Club Meeting.

The second meeting of the Men's Club of St. Paul Lutheran Church will be held on Next Monday. The entertainment committee, of which H. Wilber is chairman, has promised the members an agreeable surprise for the evening. Pastor Romoser has promised to introduce a newspaper man from New York, who will speak to the club on his experiences in France and New York. The officers were more than pleased at the attendance last month, when the club was organized. But they will not be satisfied until every man of St. Paul is enrolled on the club's list. The officers of the society are: A. Salzmann, president; C. Ewel, vice-president; H. Marquart, secretary; H. Browski, treasurer. The club is open to the friends of the club members.

TAXPAYER MAKES APPEAL FOR NEW BAPTIST CHURCH.

TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS CITY:

For a long time there has been the need of a religious center for the colored people in the southern part of this city and the outlying brickyard districts and about two years ago the Rev. C. H. King, a live earnest and highly recommended worker among the colored people of Albany, N. Y., was finally secured to come to this city and undertake this work.

Church was held in a little small frame barn on Hasbrouck avenue which soon proved too small and a large concrete barn was secured on East Union street.

With plenty of courage and hard work this man has finally gathered a congregation of over one hundred members and over seventy-five children who attend weekly Sunday school.

Certainly this is a wonderful thing for our city and too much praise cannot be given this man, with practically no outside help, just plain hard work and [illegible] desire to make the future colored generation better citizens and believers in God.

The time has now come for the people of this city to give this gentleman aid, cooperation, and a suitable building to hold these services in. Every one should help, no matter how small for the wonderful work being carried on by this man should not pass unnoticed.

The following citizens of this city have expressed a desire to help to make this church a permanent establishment: The Rev. Charles E. Smith, Frank B. Matthews, Luther S. Decker, Rev. A. S. Cole, Floyd Powell, Joseph M. Fowler, D. N. Mathews, Hon. E. J. Dempsey, W. B. Terwilliger and G. L. McEntee.

A TAXPAYER.

Kindly make checks payable to Frank B. Matthews.

His Luck

"As I driv' to town this morning with eight or ten of my children on the hayrack behind me a wildcat hopped out of a treetop and lit in the middle of 'em," at the crossroads store related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "The children gave a yell and jumped for the wildcat. The varmint give a screech and leaped from the waggin. But Runt and Rowdy had hold of his hind legs and he bumped Runt's head ag'in the side of the waggin bed, and tumbled Rowdy, the baby, out and wallered him in the dirt. I claim that there wildcat was playing in great luck."—Kansas City Star.

RHINEBECK GAZETTE LED BUT CANNOT TAKE PRIZE

High honors were again won by The Rhinebeck Gazette in the weekly newspaper competitions of the National Editorial Association, held at Memphis, Tennessee, last week. After winning the silver cups offered at two previous contests for the paper with the best editorial page, The Gazette was ineligible for any prize this year, but despite this fact it scored the highest of any weekly competing.

The competition for the best editorial page was won by the Old Colony Memorial, of Plymouth, Massachusetts, which obtains a score of 233 points. However, The Gazette scored 248 points—15 above the winner—but could not be considered for a prize, having won the cup last year. Its award must therefore be one "hors concours," which indicates merit equal to a cup award.

Liberty Register Sold.

The Great Man

What I must do is all that concerns me, and not what the people think. This rule, equally as arduous in actual and in intellectual life, may serve for a whole distinction between greatness and meanness. It is the harder because you will always find those who think they know what is your duty better than you know it. It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after your own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

Destroying Lawn Ants

In the case of lawn ants where only a small area with few nests is concerned, drenching the nests with boiling water or injecting a small quantity of kerosene or coal oil will be effective, and similar treatment will apply to nests between or beneath paving stones. Another simple means of destroying such ants in lawns of small extent is to spray the lawns with kerosene emulsion or with a very strong soap wash, prepared by dissolving any common laundry soap in water at the rate of from half a pound to a pound of soap to the gallon of water.

His Own Rules

A golfer known for his shady character entered for a competition. He was partnered by a nervous and inexperienced player who had, of course, to mark the suspect's card.

At the end of the round the unscrupulous player handed in an excellent score. The secretary consulted his partner.

"I say . . . This score of Blank's. Is it all right? Did he play fair?"

"Oh, y-yes," came the halting reply, "quite fair. Of course he has c-certain rules of his own."

How It Sounded

A woman with a bad cold attended a dinner, and although she had a poor appetite she was pressed to have some food.

"Oh, do," said her hosts for the tenth time.

"I couldn't," she replied. "I couldn't possibly eat ady bore."

They continued to press her to eat this and that, and at last she said: "Oh, very well; if I bust, I bust."

TO:

THOMAS WALICKI, ANNIE WALICKI and "MARY" MALIONCHUK, first name being fictitious and real name unknown.

The foregoing Summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an Order of Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, County Judge of Ulster County, New York, and duly filed Complaint in the office of the Clerk of Ulster County at Kingston, New York, May 16, 1928.

This action is brought to foreclose a Mortgage on premises hereinafter briefly described given by Thomas Walicki and Wife and Walter Gubinski and Wife dated March 8, 1921, and the premises affected thereby are described as follows:

ALL THAT CERTAIN FARM OF LAND, with the buildings thereon, situate in the Town of Ulster, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a cedar mate post in the bounds of Thomas H. Merritt and the party of the first part and runs thence along the bounds of the land of the said Merritt, South forty-four degrees and twenty-five minutes east six chains and five links to the corner of the stone fence, thence still along said Merritt bounds South forty-four degrees and forty-five minutes East seven chains and forty-five links to the corner of the fence, thence south forty-five degrees west twenty chains and thirty-four links to the corner of the fence, thence north forty-four degrees and forty-five minutes East ten chains and nine links to the corner of the fence, thence along the bounds of John Manning South forty-five degrees West ten chains and twenty links to the bounds of John N. Pink; thence along the same North forty-four degrees and forty-five minutes West five chains and three links to the angle of the fence; thence North thirty-five degrees and forty minutes West four chains and twenty links to the corner of the fence, thence still along said Pinks bounds South sixty-two degrees West five chains and thirty links to the line between the Towns of Ulster and Hurley, thence along said Town line North thirty minutes West thirteen chains and seventy links to the corner of the stone fence, thence along the bounds of the party of the first part North forty-two degrees and fifty-five minutes East sixteen chains to the end of the stone wall; thence North twenty-six degrees East four chains and twenty-two links; thence North thirty-six degrees and fifteen minutes East five chains and ninety-five links to the place of beginning, containing forty-five and nine-tenths acres of land, more or less, the above course being as the needle pointed in the year 1860.

Excepting and reserving out of the above described premises a certain right of way or private road running from the east of the Whiteport road and the entrance of these premises nearly north through the above described premises to a gate in the lands of Thomas Merritt.

Excepting a parcel bounded as follows: BEGINNING at a point in a stone wall which said stone wall is the westerly boundary of the lands of Jacob Van Leuven and the easterly boundary of the lands of A. Otis Davis and at a point in said stone wall where a stone wall running Easterly and Westerly and about parallel with the Lucas Turnpike intersects said boundary line and from said point or place of beginning running westerly following the line of said stone wall running at about a right angle with said stone wall to a point between the parties hereto whereby it is agreed that a line drawn from said point parallel with the present boundary line of the [illegible] now owned by Jacob Hasbrouck thence easterly along the line of the land of the said Jacob Hasbrouck to the intersection of the said Lucas Turnpike with the northerly boundary of the lands of said Jacob Hasbrouck thence along the lands of said Jacob Hasbrouck to the point or place of beginning, hereby excepting and reserving those two last named pieces or parcels of land from the above described premises, more or less, and hereby reserving a right of way over the above described premises to the lands of the grantors herein, by said Abbominable to said [illegible] and is a part of the farm [illegible] as the Krom farm.

HIGHLAND

Highland, June 7.—The Auxiliary Club celebration on Friday, June 6, will go down in history and will be remembered with pride and held forth as a day of days. Over 40 members were present. Officers of the club were elected. The business was satisfactory. Invitations were sent out with Mrs. Emma Merritt as hostess. The date set for the annual sale and supper, October 25, with other affairs intersperse. In the business world a successful leader must have unlimited energy, clear judgment and aggressiveness, tempered with conservatism and in club work people are required whose hearts beat with love for humanity and whose personality attracts people to them. Love, affection and confidence are prime requisites of successful leadership. The past has been fraught with wonderful achievements. The future will yield still more abundant harvest if wise counsels prevail, and the presidents and vice presidents who have been chosen to lead and direct all forces as a united body in the way that leads to harmony, permanence and success. The attraction of the meeting was the burning of the note of the last payment by the treasurer, May D. Malloch, on kitchen. Cost of same, $500. Captain R. H. Decker made the first payment from Easter offering of $100 in 1927, club having paid $700 in 1927 and 1928. They now have installed a hot water system, put in by D. H. Kurtz. Everything seems to be ready for dinners, luncheons and so forth. Suzanne Decker, president, gave fine remarks and applause after note was destroyed gave evidence of her popularity as a leader. Refreshments of salad, rolls, jelly, pickles, cake and coffee were enjoyed by all, who were seated at tables. Conversation was indulged in by all. It was a pleasing event and will long live in the memory of the members.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Feeter and John Feeter spent the week end in Ridgewood, N. J., with Mr. and Mrs. J. De Redon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Carpenter and daughter were in Orange Lake Park Thursday for an outing.

Miss Katherine Fellows, a local high school teacher, was at her home in Saugerties for Memorial Day.

Cornelius DuBois of Brinckerhoff avenue spent Wednesday in Wallkill as the guest of his brother, also Mrs. DuBois and daughters.

Miss Adah Van Nostrand has had recent guests from Oradell, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Martin with their son and daughter were in Woodstock at their camp over the holiday. They entertained guests from Poughkeepsie, New Paltz and Highland.

The Faculty Bridge Club members last Saturday evening were guests for games, hiking and bathing at the home of Mrs. Jacobs at Elting's Corner. They had a chicken dinner which all enjoyed.

A New England luncheon was served at the M. E. Church today from 11:30 to 1:30. Heads of Groups 5 and 6, Mrs. Harry Maynard and Mrs. Walter Constable, had this in charge. There was a fine menu and a large attendance. There were a number of reservations. Tables were arranged and decorated with flowers and the service was faultless.

Commencement week dates are as follows: Baccalaureate sermon, Presbyterian Church, June 24. Class Day and the Commencement June 25 and 26 at 8 o'clock in the M. E. Church.

Friday evening, choir rehearsal in the Presbyterian Church. All are getting in trim for Children's Day.

Harold Ford and family have moved in the Schermerhorn house on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Coutant of Washington avenue had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Bingham of Poughkeepsie last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brown have been entertaining Harry Leonard of Elmira.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Smith have had as their guest a few days, Mrs. Smith's mother from New York city.

Mrs. H. A. Lent was a guest of her parents recently, at New Paltz.

Mrs. Fred Lewis Vail, Vineyard avenue, had guests over the holiday from Poughkeepsie.

Miss Serena Terpening and friend of California are guests of the Albert Rose and Harry Albertson families.

Highland Seniors held a dance in Smith's Hall Friday evening.

James Swift and family were last Sunday guests of relatives at Beacon.

Mrs. Parker Decker and husband are now moving in their new home, near her people, on Woodside Place.

Presbyterian luncheon, June 14. All are asked to mark it down in their "date book" for there are so many society events here that one's purse is certainly taxed.

The annual sale and supper of the Auxiliary Club will be Thursday, October 25.

The Guild of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church of this place held a fine business and social meeting at the home of Miss Emma Paltridge, Friday afternoon, June 1. There were many discussions in regard to work. The hostess served delicious refreshments at the social hour.

TRAIN 250,000 IN SUMMER CAMPS

United States to Spend $20,000,000 for Preparedness This Year.

Washington.—Uncle Sam will materially aid the great out-of-doors movement in America this summer by sending more than 250,000 men into barracks and life in tents, clad in army uniforms, to get fresh air and exercise, as part of his preparedness program. Into this mighty task he will pour many millions of dollars and a world of effort.

During a 15-day period more than 19,000 reserve officers of the army will be put through their paces. Ten of these officers will be put on duty here with the War department for a year, 110 with the air corps for a year, 144 from six weeks to three months with the service schools, and 336 with the citizens' military training camps as instructors.

In the reserve officers' training corps camps, lasting six weeks, 7,200 students from colleges and universities will be given a taste of real military life. From that source the army will drawn many of its officers of the future.

Will Train 33,000 Youths.

More than 33,000 of the youth of the nation will be afield for 30 days' training in the citizens' military training camps and more than 161,000 men of the country's National Guard.

Assisting in training all these various branches of the military establishment, which is now known as the army of the United States, will be 12,000 officers and 118,750 enlisted men of the regular army and 6,060 Philippine scouts. Nearly the entire regular army will be used in training the civilian components, but in addition the "regulars" themselves will have exercises and maneuvers.

The bill for the summer training activities of the government will be close to $20,000,000. For the National Guard $9,000,552 will be expended for pay and allowances. For the reserve officers $2,583,667 has been allotted by congress, with $673,552 for those to be in training for a period greater than fifteen days and with $463,614 allowed for mileage to take them to and from camps. For the C. M. T. C. $2,801,240 has been set aside for mileage and other expenses. For the R. O. T. C. $2,970,000 is allowed for total upkeep.

These training centers are located all over the country in each army corps area and will be in full blast from June 15 to September 1.

While the army is busily engaged putting the finishing touches on plans for the summer camps, the navy, too, is busy.

Navy to Train 9,500 Sailors.

Tentative plans of the navy call for training 1,325 officers and 9,500 enlisted men. This represents a jump in the number of enlisted men, for last year only 5,285 underwent training.

A large share of the naval reservists' training will be afloat, the department utilizing twenty-five destroyers, in addition to four gunboats on the Great Lakes, for the 15-day training periods.

The marine corps is also shaping up plans for summer training. Most of the training is done at Quantico, Va., and it is expected that about 600 men and 200 officers will receive a stiff infantry workout.

Poker Game of Chance, Is Ruling for All Italy

Rome.—Poker is a game of chance, Italy's court of cassation, the highest in the land, has ruled, and the Fascist newspapers, which have been conducting strong antigambling campaigns, rejoice editorially.

Little games of penny ante at home or club are not likely to be disturbed at the decision, since it stipulates that the "aim or lucre" must be established as the preliminary to any prosecution.

Also "due account must be taken of the age and social and economic condition of the player," in other words, professional poker and playing for high stakes by the working classes is distinctly discouraged.

Two men were arrested for playing poker in a cafe of Novaro. They were gambling, ruled the judge of the lower court. Mere recreation, maintained both defendants, who then appealed to the court of cassation.

One Out of 20 Girls Confesses to Corsets

Milwaukee.—Only one out of twenty of the 1,318 working girls admitted wearing a corset during a clothing survey made at the Milwaukee Vocational school. Half the girls, earning an annual average income of $404.02, wore silk underwear, accounting for only 12 cents in the clothing dollar, according to a report made to the American Society of Home Economics and Science Service. The girls averaged fifteen pairs of stockings and four pairs of shoes per year and used two and a half boxes of powder, one and a half boxes of rouge and one lipstick. The girls included ranged from the ages of fourteen to eighteen and lived at home.

EXECUTIVE MANSION FLOODED WITH GIFTS

Albany, June 8 (AP).—Two days crowded with activities faced Miss Catherine Smith, younger daughter of Governor and Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, and Francis J. Quillinan, of Troy and New York, as they joined hands to complete plans for their marriage Saturday morning at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

Floral decorations for the church and for the executive mansion constitute one of the principal matters awaiting attention.

In addition, there will be consultations with the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Joseph A. Delaney, pastor of the cathedral, concerning details. Monsignor Delaney will be celebrant at the solemn high Mass that will follow recital of marriage vows. His Eminence, Patrick, Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York, who is to officiate in the marriage ceremony, is expected to arrive tomorrow night with a retinue of clergy.

Procuring of the marriage license yesterday climaxed a busy day during which the bride-to-be was joined at the executive mansion by her prospective husband who is an assistant deputy attorney general. Deputy City Clerk Frank V. Hogan kept his office open after hours so that the couple could obtain their license in comparative privacy. Miss Smith said she was twenty-four, was born in New York, and now lives at 138 Eagle street, the executive mansion. Answering the inquiry concerning occupation she wrote: "At home."

Mr. Quillinan, who gave his address as 195 Fifth avenue, Troy, said he was twenty-five.

The young couple spent the early part of the afternoon in examining gifts which are arriving by the dozens, and in going over the details for the wedding ceremony and the reception of 1,500 guests that will follow at the executive mansion. Between times, Miss Smith cast anxious eyes out of the window, watching the downpour of rain that soaked Albany for the last two days. She frequently expressed what her friends say is her big wish for her wedding day—that it will dawn fair and bright.

RED RIVER FARM METHODS ARE AT TRANSITORY STAGE

Introduction of Wire Fences Marks Change From One Crop to Diversified Products.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Farm methods in the Red river valley are at a transitory stage, and a token of the new era is the introduction of wire fences.

A decade or two ago wheat was the only crop produced, and a solid sea of grain stretched from North Dakota to Minnesota. Yields averaged 20 to 40 bushels to the acre, and the valley went down in history as the "bread basket of the world," a space unfenced, where farms were broad and bountiful.

In the last eight years a tremendous change has taken place. An avaricious plant, the sow thistle, has swept the wheat fields, forcing average yield down to seven or eight bushels to the acre.

There was but one remedy, diversified farming and the production of live stock. That brought the wire fences into prominence. Farms were reduced in size and fenced to control the stock.

The change now is at its height, with experimental farms throughout the valley, proving that a system including the raising of live stock and production of feed, together with diversification and rotation of field crops, will bring back the vitality of the soil and eradicate the thistle.

Still other effects are attributed to fencing. Gardens have been planted where tin cans once were piled, and farmers are producing their own meat and milk and butter.

More than a score of creameries have been started in the valley, and a sugar beet factory is operating, using beets from 15,000 acres. Negotiations have been started for at least two canning factories, and each year brings the constant addition of miles and miles of fences.

Tree Big Enough to Build Nine Cottages

Twin, Wash.—They grow big in Northwest states—these giant fir trees.

And one of the biggest yet discovered went crashing to earth when a crew near here dethroned a monarch that not only provided a large amount of lumber but some large statistics as well.

It was, foresters say, about 2,000 years old. Length, 300 feet; weight, 200 tons; diameter, 12 feet. Its logs filled eight flat cars. The tree scaled 62,500 board feet, sufficient to build nine five-room cottages.

Hidden away in the depths of Northwest forests, foresters believe there are even bigger trees.

Lake Katrine Social.

The public is invited to attend the supper and card party to be held by the home economics committee of Lake Katrine Grange at the Grange Hall on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, June 13. The supper will be served from 6 until 8 p. m. and cards will be played from 8:30 o'clock throughout the evening.

Rescue Hook to Meet Tonight.

A meeting of Rescue Hook & Ladder Company, No. 1, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. The gathering will be the last one before the big firemen's convention this month. Every member is expected to be present as inspection of uniforms will take place.

Louise Brooks, a petite brunette whose dancing in Ziegfeld's Follies and "Louis the 14th" was one of the sensations of a recent theatrical season, was signed by a prominent motion picture producer to a long-term contract, following her outstanding work in "The American Venus." Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

CONTROL

GOLFERS who were astonished at the remarkable record of Bobbie Jones, who some time ago defeated all the American amateurs at their own game, can remember the time when this lad, on missing a punt, would stamp on his putter, or throw it violently away.

Jones had temperament, which is necessary to all high achievement.

But before he could become a master of the game, he had to take the temper out of his temperament, and this, after long self-discipline, he has succeeded in doing.

Sometimes qualities which are the real elements of success become obstacles to success.

The Bible, written many years ago, tells us that he who ruleth his own spirit is greater than he who taketh a city.

But in all probability the men who took cities in those days ruled their spirits first, so they combined two sorts of greatness.

Then men who do great things in the world are usually nervous. Imaginative men, who have high ideals of the way things should be done, and who are impatient with themselves for not attaining those ideals.

That is why they get into rages when they make mistakes, and because of those rages continue to make more and worse mistakes.

To manage oneself is a long hard job, yet it must be done, and done efficiently before one can manage anybody else, or succeed in a great task.

There is little doubt that this Jones chap will succeed in life as well as in golf, in work as well as in play.

He has the intelligence to know that superiority in a sport is really nothing, and he has the determination to exercise the self-government which will enable him to succeed in other things.

It is customary to regard young men who are prone to fly into violent rages over their failures as unfitted for life.

This is a mistake. The fact that they do fly into rages proves that they know what they ought to do, and have no patience with themselves when they cannot do it.

It is the spring in the steel which makes it superior to iron, but the spring must be controlled and carefully adjusted if it is to be useful in mechanics.

Sometimes the slow plodding temperament will go farther than the brilliant one, but never if the brilliant one is properly managed.

All the world's greatest geniuses have been eccentric. But it is a mistake to regard eccentricity as genius.

The men who have reduced their eccentricities to the minimum, and kept a constant check on them are those who are most likely to get into the Hall of Fame—after they are dead—and to enjoy the regards of high reputation while they are living.

Young Mr. Jones has set a valuable example not only to golfers but to all young men everywhere.

Learning to control himself was a tough job. But he did it, and will be able to continue to do it whenever it is necessary.

America is a thinking country. It thinks all week in an effort to select some place to go on Sunday.

A pessimist is a man who believes that every raspberry has a worm in it.

All the constitution guarantees is the pursuit of happiness. You have to catch up with it yourself.

There is no use trying to joke with a woman. The other day Jones heard a pretty good conundrum and decided to try it on his wife.

"Do you know why I am like a mule?" he asked her when he went home.

"No," she replied promptly. "I know you are, but I don't know why."

Uncle Silas (visiting city relatives who use electrical appliances for cooking at the table). "Well, I swan! You make fun of us for eatin' in the kitchen. I don't see as it makes much difference whether you eat in the kitchen or cook in the dining room."

Teacher: "An epidemic is anything that spreads. Now, name an epidemic."

Tommy—"Jam, ma'am!"

Dyspepsia does not come so much from the food we eat as from our thoughts while we eat it.

It's not a bargain if you don't need it or can't resell it at a profit.

Two farmers became at outs one day and neither having any special admiration for the appearance of the other, the following remarks were heard:

"Yep," said the one, "I had a beard like yourn once, and when I realized how it made me look I cut if off, b'gosh."

"Wal, I had a face like yourn once, and when I realized I couldn't cut it off I grew a beard, by heck."

You may seem just as queer to the other fellow as he seems to you.

Little Willis was present at dinner when the parson was invited. When dinner was about to start the parson reverently bent his head over his plate. Everybody was quiet, when a little voice piped out:

"It's all right, mister—the meat's quite fresh."

The stout lady on the scale was eagerly watched by two small boys. The lady dropped in her cent, but the machine was out of order and only registered 75 pounds.

"Good night, Bill," gasped one of the youngsters in amazement. "She's hollow!"

"How do you play hookey from the correspondence school?"

"I send them an empty envelope."

The woman played a mean trick on her husband. She gave him a bunch of letters to mail. In the lot was one addressed to herself.

An enterprising florist put an announcement in his window: "We give a packet of flower seed with every plant."

His competitor across the street put up this: "We give the earth with every plant."

If we would stop waiting for inspiration and make the perspiration come the inspiration might come with it.

"There must be a lot of golfers in this office building."

"Why so?"

"When I called 'Four' in the elevator this morning, all the passengers ducked."

Girls used to get their complexions outside to wear inside; now they put them on inside to wear outside.

A physician declares that fits are becoming more prevalent. Due, probably, to the survival of the fittest.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, June 7.—Sunday morning Children's Day will be observed in the Reformed Church. Mr. Doak will bring a message at that service which everyone is invited to hear.

Mrs. Preston Church, who has been teaching The Clove School the past year, closed it on Friday last with a community picnic. All who attended report a very pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green have returned home after a two weeks' vacation at Long Island.

Daniel and Frank Joseph of New York spent Memorial Day with their mother, Mrs. Katherine Joseph.

The Rev. N. N. Doak spent the past week at his home in Amsterdam.

Mrs. Rich of Poughkeepsie is spending some time with Mrs. George Leferre.

James Freer of Kingston spent Sunday with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Adams.

The Thompson family has vacated the rooms in Mrs. Mary Stevens's house and gone to Rosendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Linn Clark and daughter of Poughkeepsie visited Mr. and Mrs. I. Ghear on Sunday.

William Ham and Hugh Ferguson, High Falls boys, left last week for Newport and later will be transferred to Virginia where they will take up a course of study preparatory to enlisting in the navy.

Marvin Van Wagenen has improved his residence by giving it a coat of paint.

All who are interested in fire prevention in High Falls will meet in Krom's Hall on Thursday evening, June 14, at 7:30, standard time. There will be a report of committee.

Hobert Agnew has been spending a few days with relatives in this place.

Old Stamp Does Duty.

Portland, Me., June 8 (AP)—A postage stamp printed 38 years ago was used to send a letter from Brunswick, Me., to Portland recently. It was a two-cent stamp of the Columbian issue of 1892, commemorating the 400th anniversary of the landing of Columbus. The stamps, which have not been printed since that year, are of a purplish hue and depict the landing of the explorer.

INDUSTRY BASED ON MILK RISES IN NEW MEXICO.

Portales, N. M., June 8. (AP).—New Mexico cowboys, whose "store bought" lunch usually includes cheese now are eating a produce manufactured in their own state.

The steady increase in the number of dairy cattle in a country once devoted exclusively to beef stock has resulted in the establishment of the cheese industry. The first factory is located in Portales, producing 1,000 pounds of cheese daily. The output eventually will be increased to 8,000 pounds a day.

The Joss brothers, who operate the plant, declare the New Mexico climate is ideal for the industry. They learned cheese making in Switzerland, but they are manufacturing American instead of Swiss cheese.

Substitute Spelling

A second-grade teacher was inspecting letter-card sentences made by her pupils. On one boy's desk she read this sentence: "He took his hat ofph." Very much surprised at the novel spelling, she inquired of the boy how he happened to spell "off" in this way. "Well," was the reply, "I ran out of fs."

The Original "Home, Sweet Home"

At East Hampton, Long Island, still stands the home immortalized by Thomas Howard Payne, who was born 137 years ago this month. Payne achieved fame as poet, writer, actor, editor, and one-time American Consul to Tunis. But, although endowed with unusual talents, he never managed to save for the future, regardless of his income.

While on the verge of starvation in Paris, in 1823, he wrote the opera "Clari, the Maid of Milan" and in it introduced "Home, Sweet Home." In the song Payne wrote the heartache of the wanderer—the man who in old age still misses the joy, the comforts, the security that go with a home one can call one's own.

"Home, Sweet Home" or any other worth-while possession can be yours—if you build a reserve fund through regular deposits here.

FREE MOVIE ADMISSION ENDS STUDENT ROUGHING.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 8 (AP.)—Ann Arbor theatre managers finally have devised a plan to eliminate student rushes through their movie houses after each important Michigan athletic victory.

Last year when the Wolverine athletes scored one victory after another, the students made rush after rush through the movie theatres. Finally the situation became serious, and to arbitrate the theater managers offered free admission each time Michigan won a major athletic championship. The offer was accepted.

Since then Michigan has won but one major championship. That was in baseball.

Found White Customs Hard to Understand

A naked South Sea islander, whom Jack McLaren, the globe trotter, met he would not understand why white men dressed in the daytime and undressed at night.

"In the night, when it is cold, we pamper our white skins by putting on clothes," he said in effect; "and in the daytime, when it is hot, we take them off."

In a remote Solomon Island village a native asked McLaren why it was that he had heard, that in white countries the people quarrel and fight so much that strong men policemen continually walk the streets to keep the peace. In his village, he said, there was little quarreling, except with other villages or with intruders, and hardly any stealing at all. He said he had thought that white men would have known better than to behave like that.

Another savage thought it strange that whites rejoiced and made holiday only at specified times, such as Christmas and Easter. His people, he said, jubilated just whenever they felt like it, which, incidentally, was very often indeed. He thought that our capacity for enjoyment must be extremely limited, in that we had to have special times and arrangements for it.

Degrees of Kinship Easy to Determine

Reckoning cousin relationships is simple if you start out right. A cousin is one collaterally related by descent from a common ancestor, but not a brother or sister. Children of brothers and sisters are first cousins to one another; sometimes they are called cousins-german, own cousins, or full cousins. The children of first cousins are "second cousins" to one another; children of second cousins are third cousins to one another, and so on. The child of one's first cousin is a first cousin once removed; the grandchild of one's first cousin is a first cousin twice removed, and so on. Confusion sometimes arises from the custom of some people who speak of the children and grandchildren of their first cousins as second and third cousins, respectively, but the practice is only local. The correct and almost universal rule for reckoning cousins is as we have given it.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Easy Way to Dry Fish

Curious use is made of the rigging of a fishing schooner, putting out from Havana, Cuba, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Instead of taking the catch ashore for drying, the fish are hung on the lines of the rig where they are safe, comparatively free from dirt and exposed to the sun at all times of the day.

The True Virtues

Self-discipline, sacrifice, and the desire for knowledge are the only real virtues of all that are generally called so. For they alone involve the exercise of the will.—Arthur Schnitzler in Vanity Fair.

Kingston's Sale For the Blind

This year, Kingston's sale for the blind workers of the state will be held from Friday evening, June 15, to Saturday evening, June 23, inclusive. The women of twenty-two churches will put over the sale of articles made by the blind people of New York state and they are hoping and planning to work to have their sale equal or exceed that of Poughkeepsie, which amounted to $1,400.

One thing has always been remarked about the arranging and operating of these sales each year, and that is the splendid spirit shown by the women of the various churches in adjusting the time that each organization will furnish the saleswomen under Mrs. Thomas Hayes, "general store-keeper," or "steward," as she is designated by the blind people. Because of this fine spirit of give-and-take it was possible, on Thursday to arrange sales periods for all interested in carrying on the work.

It had been announced that the meeting would be in the City Library and that a short musical program would be given by blind musicians, but when it was found that it would be exceedingly difficult to place a piano in the basement of the Library, as well as against the usual custom of requiring silence in any library, the American Legion gallantly came to the rescue and the meeting was held in the hall of the American Legion building, which was crowded to capacity by the women of the city.

There were present from the Albany Association of the Blind and the New York State Commission for the Blind, Frank Leslie Frost, president and general manager of the Association; Miss Henry of the State Commission and Miss Parks of the Commission; Howard Myers and Edgar Ostrander, blind musicians, besides the local committee women, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, general chairman; Mrs. Thomas Hayes, steward; Mrs. Marblestone, secretary and Mrs. Morris, treasurer.

As soon as the meeting was called to order, Mr. Finch of the American Legion very cordially welcomed the out of town people and the home women who were present to help with the coming sale and extended the privileges of the building to them. Mr. Frost in expressing his appreciation of the generous hospitality of the Legion, also bespoke the pleasure of his associates as well as himself in being in Kingston among their very good friends here. He explained that they had, this year, brought with them, two young men from up-state who would do some of the entertaining, thus relieving him from speechmaking. Both of them were members of their blind orchestra of Albany which is doing splendidly and having many engagements. Howard J. Myers, the violinist is a graduate of the State School for the Blind at Batavia and is also a graduate piano tuner, besides doing chair caning. Edgar Ostrander, pianist and saxophone player and whistler, a recent recruit to the orchestra, is a World War veteran and was formerly a member of the carrier force of the post office of Rensselaer and of their volunteer fire company. In addition to his music, Mr. Ostrander is an expert in restringing tennis racquets.

The young men played several violin and piano selections with spirit and considerable musicianship, Howard getting a fine, broad tone from his violin. They also played an encore number. Then Mr. Myers became the pianist and accompanied Mr. Ostrander who gave two excellent saxophone solos and a clever whistling solo, and finally the two young men played a very good piano duet. Quite aside from their efficiency, the blind people who have at any time come to Kingston from the Albany Association have always been noted for their cheery optimism and the group on Thursday afternoon were particularly happy spirited, making all present feel that it would indeed be a privilege to do all in their power to help these sorely handicapped people to make not a bare but a good living.

Mr. Frost brought word from Ulster county people being helped, among them Mrs. Houghtaling, who is at the Home for Incurables in Albany and who he regetted to report was in very poor health. Fortunately the fund for her special care is such that she can have whatever comforts she can enjoy. Miss Berrian is very well and happy with all the work she can do, and Miss Dunnigan, one of twelve blind old ladies, (she is over 70 years old), is just rushed to pieces with orders for hemming towels, and happy as a girl over that fact. At a recent Association dance, Miss Dunnigan, returning with Miss Henry told her that she could hem fifteen towels in a day before two o'clock in the afternoon, and was having such a good time doing the work that sometimes she got up at 4:30 a. m., to begin.

Then Mr. Frost had a special word for a Kingston blind man, Mr. Thomas, who had most generously promised the loan of a piano if it was found possible to give the musical program in the Library. Mr. Frost said they were just as grateful as though they could have accepted Mr. Thomas' generous offer and wished to publicly thank him.

Mr. Frost told briefly of the work since the last sale here, stating that the Association had been having "downs and ups," instead of "ups and downs," during that period. Their sales during last summer were so much less than usual that for the first time in the history of the Association, they had to shut down on the work, which was most distressing. All of their money had been used up in materials. Then in October their sales began to increase and had continued to so increase that at present the Association is from four to five thousand dollars ahead of the sales at this time last year, which is most gratifying. This has been in part due to the good price on linen for towelling given them by an interested importer, and then by the fine support of their friends of the Hudson Valley and the Albany district. The Association has purchased a site in Albany, right back of the capitol building and now it is their ambition to build a home for blind old ladies as soon as funds will permit. Mr. Frost then called upon Miss Henry (also blind) of the State Commission, who told of the wonderful preventive work that the state is doing for people, who having eye trouble and unable to have special care, are being helped by the commission. Very frequently such care has resulted in saving people from blindness. Where there are cases of accident the commission provides a special nurse and even operative care. Next to this preventive work, Miss Henry counted the sales such as are held in Kingston, the teaching and social work among the blind to be most helpful. Today there are over 5,000 totally blind people in the state who are either working or in schools for the blind. Miss Henry also spoke very thankfully of the pre-natal clinics being held almost everywhere now, which will mean far, far fewer blind babies in the future.

Before the meeting adjourned the dates were set for the sales groups as follows, the place of sale to be announced later.

Worth It

'Twas off the coast of dear old Ireland, and the steamship was a trifle out of its course. It had, in fact, taken the wrong turning.

"Breakers ahead! We are lost," yelled the lookout from his point of vantage in the bows.

"Begorra!" cried the Irish cook, "we're not lost if that will save us."

And seizing a belaying pin, he hit the lookout man such a blow as to completely floor the man.

"How dare you?" bellowed the captain angrily. "Why did you strike that man?"

"Well," replied Pat, "he yelled, 'Breuk us a head, or we are lost' and, sure I did it, sir. And I'll break a dozen more, sir, if that'll save the ship."—Weekly Scotsman.

HEMO-LIVER

Quickly Brings Better Health to Weak, Thin-Blooded People

Millions of people are eating liver on the advice of doctors to gain strength and enrich blood. Now thousands are turning to Hemo-Liver.

It contains substances extracted from beef livers which create rich, strong blood and strengthen the vital forces of men and women and is an expensive formula to produce.

But what matters the cost to any anemic, thin-blooded, weakly, run-down man or woman if by taking this pleasant preparation they are able to obtain those marvelous elements that mean so much to them in the way of renewed physical strength and vital vigor?

Every live druggist in America is authorized to return the purchase price if one bottle (8 days' treatment) doesn't prove to you that Hemo-Liver will bring back health, vitality, energy and old-time ambition in fullest measure.

You can get Hemo-Liver at McBride's (3) Drug Stores.

Hemo-Liver Products Co., New York city.

your whole bathroom as washable as tile...

Hundreds of dollars for a tile bathroom—just $3.20 for a Mirrolac Enamel bathroom.

Just as clean—just as washable—and so easy to apply you can do the whole job yourself.

Devoe Mirrolac Enamel is different from other enamels. It doesn't drag under the brush. It doesn't leave ugly "lap marks." Instead of three or four coats—just one coat, over an undercoat, gives you the most beautiful enamel surface you ever saw. Come in for a color card.

We sell Devoe Paint and Varnish Products because they are the finest money can buy. No matter what the job, you'll find a Devoe product made to do it just a little better than anything else.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By the Associated Press).

New York—Four well-known flyers will be out over the Atlantic tonight with plenty of safe, dry footing between them and the water. The Bremen's crew and Ruth Elder are going abroad by different steamships.

Chicago—What a sweet tooth we have! R. L. Purdon of the Department of Commerce puts the annual candy consumption in the U. S. A. at more than 1,500,000,000 pounds.

New York—Ushers who interfere unduly with lovers at the movies must beware. A young man was beaten up by theatre employes for kissing his girl. The head usher was arrested. The complainants counsel pleaded: "When a boy takes his sweetheart to the movies a little love making is natural." The head usher was fined $5.

Washington—A bulletin issued by the Post Office Department tells of the faith the late Big Bill Haywood had in the government whose downfall he preached. Before he fled to Russia he was wont to invest the proceeds of his lecture tours in money orders payable to himself. A bunch of them was stolen from him. At his request duplicates were issued and $5,000 was paid to him.

Chicago—When it comes to honors at the University of Chicago, Miss Carolyn Teetzel, a junior, has all there are. There aren't any more. In the 24 hour period ended last midnight she was successively initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, appointed university aide by President Mason and awarded a Major C in athletics.

Zion, Ill.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, is not the man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo, the reason being, as he explained, that he did not play. "If I had played," he said, "I would have had all the money in no time. I am a success at anything I turn my hand to. If I were not a success, explain how I could start in 1907 with 83 cents and have somewhere around $15,000,000 in 1920."

Chicago—The bunion derby of Mr. Pyle had nothing on a dance marathon for dogged endurance, take it from the ten couples surviving from the original 138 who started going round and round at the coliseum last Saturday. There are trainers, masseurs, physicians, dieticians, managers and what not to add longevity to the affair. One fair marathoner, ruled off the floor when a physician said her heart was weak, complained in vain to the state's attorney that her heart had been libelled.

Comfort for Fat Men in Insurance Figures

An insurance company of New York announces from its accumulation of data and figures that fat men are more honest than their "lean and hungry" brothers. Which corroborates Shakespeare's opinion expressed long ago when he made his Caesar say: "Let me have men about me that are fat."

The fat man is noted for his ready and hearty laugh, and that may explain, in a way, some of his honesty. It is hard to picture a good-humored, open-faced, jolly man as anything but fair and square and straight. Of course "a man may smile and smile and be a villain," but that sort of mirth is a pinch-faced, half-strangled kind. A smile is often associated with wickedness, but a free, belly-shaking laugh betokens a guileless genius.

We are glad to hear a good word for the fat man. There has been much sympathy and "ragging" wasted on them—especially on fat boys. They have long suffered under the old heartless saying that "nobody loves a fat man." It is not the truth but the prevalence of the saying that has worked them injury—particularly with the opposite and willful sex. All rules have exceptions. Let the heavy fellows remember that the saying nobody loves a fat man is no truer than the one that all fat men are honest.—Exchange.

Cat's Meow

The cat who loves cod liver oil is being put upon. He sure is more fond of cod liver oil than liver or raw hamburg steak, or salmon, or kidneys, or cat food—and the family know it.

Recently he decided to go out for the evening. The youngster did not wish to have him go, but he slid out on the steps looking around for worlds to conquer. No calling for "Kitty, kitty," would budge him an inch.

Then the small youngster ran and got the cod liver oil bottle. She held it out to him as bait. He gave one sniff in the air and then came to the bottle as true as a needle to a magnet. The child walked into the house with the bottle, the cat following—and she had him.—Springfield Union.

Acquire Charming Personality

The prizes of life come to those who surround themselves with an aura of geniality. You then make friends easily; and success in every sphere in life is assured you in advance if you are guided by reasonable intelligence. Therefore, make every possible effort to acquire and maintain a charming personality. Try to avoid repression. Try to be your honest-to-goodness self—just as you are. Lay aside all subterfuge; cultivate a kindly feeling toward your fellow man, and try to express it as best you can. —True Story Magazine.

Fancy of Women

Little Patsy is a youngster of considerable imagination and poise for one of five years and always has an unusual slant on subjects which her elders ponder.

Attending a theater with her mother recently, she sat enthralled through an organ recital of unusual poignancy. When it was ended, she turned to her mother with a wistful smile and said:

"Mother, I would like to have a dress like that music."

Stage Set for Tonight's Fights

No stone has been left unturned to give the fans of Fistiana a sterling show at the American Legion boxing bouts, under the auspices of the 156th Field Artillery, in the armory tonight. The big doors of the drill shed will be swung wide at 7:30 and as the hands on the armory clock mark 8:30 the curtain raiser will start.

From the opening gong until the final clang of the big bell, to be handled by Dick Malone, there will be action galore in the roped arena. The scrappers are raring to go and will be urged in their eagerness by Katharine Hepburn, who always adds pep to the show. Joe Daley and Bill Singer, the regular judges, will determine the winners of the tilts, taking every detail into consideration before making the decisions.

The way in which the reserved seat section has been selling forecasts that the arena in the vicinity of the ring will be well filled. The calibre of the scrappers on the card has attracted the attention of a number who have not been attending the Legion scraps regularly, while the "rush" seats will likely be in bigger demand than ever. Fans who contemplate sitting on the bleachers are advised to reach the armory at an early hour.

There will be 32 rounds of battling, according to the schedule. The main fracas of eight stanzas will be between Alex Tovereski of the 102nd Medical Regiment and Georgie Mesina, former lightweight champion of the Philippine Islands. It is said the hitting power of both men is rated very highly and their cleverness is expected to impress the attendance to a great extent.

The semi-final of six rounds will be put on by Joe Vosdick of Saugerties and Frankie Ponzo of the 369th Regiment. These two scrappers have fought in the armory and are expected to put on a show that will teem with interest. Ponzo has been dumping opponents with marked regularity of late and Vosdick will have to work hard to overcome the attack of the "black panther."

Roy Van Buren's six-round tilt with Soldier Hillis of the 22d Engineers is expected to be crowded with action. Van Buren is anxious to score a win in order to get a crack at Kid Rash or Tommy Aboba in the near future. If he can beat Hillis his chances of a match with either of these boys will be good, it is said.

There will be three-four rounders on the card. Joe Myers of this city will meet Willie Rosenberg of Fort Dupont; Frenchy Duweig will take on Stanley Miller and Charlie Molvin of the local battery, who turned in a good performance on last month's card, although he dropped the scrap, will meet Bucky Williams. Tonight's appearance will be Molvin's second in the ring.

When the last card was staged in the armory a number of Walk Miller's battlers, including Manuel Quintero, who recently defeated Louis "Kid" Kaplan in Madison Square Garden and is waiting for a crack at Jimmy McLarnin, contender for lightweight honors, were introduced from the ring. A group of boxers from the Eddyville camp are expected to be present tonight to be introduced by Kingston's recognized best announcer, Samuel J. Riber, Strand merchant.

Walker Picks Two Good Fighters

New Jersey Irishman Is the Only Champion of 1922 Who Still Sports a Title Toga—May Lose It To Hudkins or Lomski.

(By Alan J. Gould)
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 8 (AP).—Mickey Walker, in many respects the most remarkable fighter the modern ring has known, is picking no soft or gentle ring occupation in booking fights with Ace Hudkins at Chicago, June 21, and with Leo Lomski in New York, two weeks later.

The Nebraska Wildcat and the Aberdeen Assassin are just about as dangerous as they sound, two of the toughest customers the ring has had in some time. Hudkins is not as hard a hitter as the heavier Lomski but Ace has a clawing, persistent style that becomes more annoying as the evening gets along.

If Walker survives these two encounters triumphantly it will be one of the greatest feats of his rough and rugged career. The smiling New Jersey Irishman, a two-fisted slugger himself, will be a favorite to check Hudkins but against the heavier Lomski his chance will be no better than even, if that.

Walker is the only champion of the class of 1922 who still sports a title toga. In fact, since the retirement of Jack Dempsey this year, he is the only one of the whole group still in active competition, a remarkable record in itself.

Mickey held the welterweight championship six years ago, at a time that seems even more distant when it is recalled that Jimmy Wilde was flyweight champion, Johnny Kilbane the featherweight king, Benny Leonard the lightweight ruler, Battling Siki the light heavyweight titleholder and Dempsey the monarch of all the maulers.

Walker lost the welter laurels in 1926 to Pete Latzo but before the year was out he had taken the world's middleweight crown from Tiger Flowers. He still holds it and will defend it against another ex-welterweight when he meets Hudkins.

Mickey has gone up and down the scale, fighting anything from welters to light heavies in the past half dozen years. He outpointed Mike McTigue when the veteran Irishman was the world's light heavyweight champion in 1925. Later the same year, however, Walker took one of the worst beatings of his career at the hands of Harry Greb when he tried to wrest the middleweight title from the Pittsburgh windmill.

Many critics considered that Greb took a lot of the fire out of Walker's fighting equipment in that fight if he couldn't disturb the Irishman's bulldog spirit. The forthcoming fights with Hudkins and Lomski will test Mickey's present qualifications to stay at the top. Since he won the title from Flowers, he has defended it only once but did it with neatness and dispatch by knocking out Tommy Milligan in London a year ago.

RECORD OF TOTAL WINS MAY FALL BEFORE YANKS

New York, June 8(AP).—The New York Yankees loom up as a threat to the major league record of games won in a season, established by the Chicago Cubs of 1906. Flashing the great Tinkers-to-Evers-to-Chance trio, the Bruins turned in 116 victories to win the pennant.

At the beginning of the present week the Yankees had a record of 36 games won and eight lost, representing two-sevenths of their schedule of 154 games. Should they continue at that speed until the close of the season, which would be asking something of the team, mighty as the Yanks are, they would finish with 126 victories and 28 defeats.

When the Cubs established their record in 1906 they won 116 and lost 36, only to drop the world's series to their city rivals, the White Sox, known that season as "The Hitless Wonders."

RONDOUTS WIN FROM CLERMONT NINE

The Rondout A. C. stepped from behind in the seventh inning at Block Park Thursday night and nosed out the Clermonts 9-8. The Seventh Ward aggregation had trailed the Clermonts up until this inning when the score stood 8-5, but four hits, three of which were doubles, brought the victory for the Rondouts.

Spiegel's hard drive to deep center, after two men had failed with two more parked on the bags, drove home the winning runs. The Rondouts had scored three runs previously in the inning on Nile's triple, Krum's double and Cragan's single.

The Clermonts collected three runs in the opening inning off Ken Best. In the fifth stanza, when the Clermonts raised their standing by five runs, Peters relieved Best and after allowing several blows batted the Clermonts.

HIGGINSVILLE A. C. DOWNS BRIGHAM BROTHERS' NINE

The Higginsville A. C. chalked another victory to its credit by easily overcoming the Brigham Brothers' team, 11-4, at the Fair Grounds Thursday evening. Paul Misove started on the mound for the winners and after finishing several innings resigned the task to Jackie Cohen of New York, who recently joined the team. Duffy, fast little fielder of the Higginsville club, cracked out four hits out of four times at bat.

The Higginsville team is ready for all comers. Teams in this vicinity, who would like to take on the nine, may book games through William Longendyke, 8 Hurley avenue.

Wilson Started as Fighter

A well known Chicago promoter says that when Hack Wilson of the Cubs decided to serve his country by playing professional baseball the prize ring was deprived of a man who might have won the heavyweight championship, writes Ralph Cannon in the Chicago Journal.

The authority for this statement is none other than Jim Dougherty, the baron of Lafayette, who grew up with Wilson and bought him his first baseball suit, for which he paid the munificent sum of $1.50.

Hack Wilson.

Wilson was noted in his own home town for his tremendous strength and his speed. Hack loved to battle and was mixed up in all sorts of fisticuffs, ever willing to give weight and never asking quarter when the going got sultry.

As he grew older and kept taking on weight, he assumed the proportions of a heavyweight, and for a time hesitated between following the ring or the diamond. He finally chose the latter and, after a number of ups and downs, made the highest grade.

Wilson is one living proof of the fact that baseball managers make many mistakes. He was on the roster of the New York Giants for two years, but failed to set the world afire. John McGraw farmed him to Toledo, intending to recall him at a later date, but Johnny or some other person in his employ slipped up on the job and the time for filing recalls passed by without any recall action being taken.

When the drafting season rolled around, Brooklyn and Philadelphia both put in bids for Wilson. But the Robins had finished a half game ahead of the Phils, which meant in the way of baseball figuring that the Quakers got first choice on Wilson. They exercised the right and Hack joined them. His transfer to the Cubs followed and today he is one of the most highly rated swatters in baldom.

Soldier Field Stadium Soon to Be Completed

When Navy meets Notre Dame on Soldier Field, October 13, in a football classic of the fall, Chicago's $7,500,000 memorial to its war dead will stand completed—not only as the greatest stadium in the world, but also as one of the world's greatest amphitheater and exhibition halls.

Famed already as the modern Coliseum where 200,000 worshiped at the Eucharistic congress, where Army played the Navy and where Tunney defeated Dempsey for the second time, Soldier field, when completed, will include, besides a place for spectacular outdoor pageants, an extensive series of exhibition halls.

On either side, halls 975 feet in length and 50 feet wide will afford great quarters for expositions, in addition to the 600 feet long hall at one end.

The temporary wooden structures forming seats at one end of the stadium have been removed and concrete stands are rising in their place. These wooden seats won prominence during the Tunney-Dempsey fight as the $5 rim-side locations. The stadium's builders, the South Park commissioners, have promised to have the completed stadium in readiness for the Navy-Notre Dame game this fall.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

Baked by Brooklyn suicides, the Cincinnati Reds today, a shade ahead of the National League pack, were in position to comfortable close quarters.

Old Bill Doak, who quit baseball to dabble in real estate and then decided it was a mistake, pitched the Cardinals to a sensational 11 inning 1 to 0 victory over the Reds at Brooklyn yesterday. Meanwhile the New York Giants nosed out the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3, at the Polo Grounds and moved up to within a game and a half of the league leaders.

Doak and Pete Donohue looked up in one of the prettiest pitching duels of the season until the eleventh. Then with one out, Hendricks was hit by a pitched ball and scored the winning run after successive singles by Herman and Bressler. Doak allowed but six hits, issued no passes but hit two batsmen. Donohue was touched for only five safeties, walked three men and hit two.

Jack Cummings's pinch hit in the ninth enabled the Giants to beat the Cardinals, as Larry Benton recorded his ninth victory in 11 starts, all of them complete games. Cummings was batting for Benton in the tied ninth when he drove in Terry with the winning run. Flint Rhem pitched well for the Cards but found Benton just a trifle more effective.

Pete Scott's home run, a single by Sparky Adams and Lloyd Waner's double gave the Pittsburgh Pirates two runs in the twelfth inning and an 8 to 6 triumph over the Boston Braves. Burwell, recently obtained from Indianapolis of the American Association, saved the day for the Pirates. He went in as relief for Carmen Hill in the ninth inning and held the Braves to one hit. Five home runs were smashed, Scott getting two, the others going to Hornsby, Barnhart and Taylor.

The Philadelphia Nationals broke their nine-game losing streak at the expense of the Chicago Cubs, Ray Benge turning in a 4 to 2, six-hit victory. Hack Wilson hit his tenth homer of the season and went into a tie with Del Bissonette of Brooklyn for league leadership.

The New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to 10 full games by defeating the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 2. Four-run rallies in each of the last two innings gave George Pipgras his tenth victory of the year. Babe Ruth hit his twentieth homer of the season and Lou Gehrig his twelfth.

Alvin Crowder allowed but four hits as the Browns defeated the Philadelphia Athletics at St. Louis, 4 to 1. Grove was nicked for five hits, one a homer by Brannom in the third inning, when the Browns scored all their runs. Ty Cobb fanned thrice.

The Boston Red Sox found Owen Carroll a puzzle and Detroit took a 5 to 2 win at Navin Field. The Red Sox got only five hits off the former Holy Cross star, who was run-proof after the first inning.

Chicago fell into last place in the standing when the Sox bowed to Washington 7 to 5. Lyons and Hadley, the starting pitchers, were hammered all over the lot, but Marberry saved the game for the Senators when he rescued Hadley and allowed only four hits in five innings. Bucky Harris returned to the lineup and Kenna, a catcher from Minneapolis of the American Association, backstopped his first full game for the Senators, playing good ball.

N. Y. COPS EXCEL AT WEIGHT HEAVING.

New York, June 8 (AP).—There must be something in the swell of proud chests under the blue of New York police uniforms that breeds weight throwers.

The "Big Five" of weight heaving history includes three patrolmen who pounded beats somewhere between the Bronx and the battery. All were Irish.

Matt McGrath, four times a point scorer in the international classics and still the hammer throwing hope of America for the summer Olympic meet at Amsterdam, is a traffic captain in a downtown precinct.

Pat McDonald, hoping to get in his fifth set of games through the same event, is a police lieutenant up in the Bronx. Just recently, Paddy Ryan, retired from the force and living in Ireland, declared he would return to America for another shot at the weight honors he once held.

REFORMED CHURCH TEAM DEFEATED BY Y'S MEN

The Y's Men's baseball team hung up another victory by defeating the Reformed Church nine, 20-5, at the Athletic Field Thursday evening. Williams, who hurled for the Reformed athletes, was easy meat for the Y's Men. They landed on 22 of his slants. Some of the blows were good for several sacks, including a circuit wallop by "Pop" Hinds, who made good four times out of the same number of tries. Kias and Winne came through with three blows apiece and Lacey found the pill for two doubles and two singles. Hendrickson and Flemmings did stellar hurling for the winning team.

GOLF KNOWN AS "KOLVEN" PLAYED IN 15TH CENTURY.

Amsterdam, June 8 (AP).—There are in existence old prints which show that "kolven", as golf was originally called here, was a popular pastime in Holland 500 years ago, and the Dutch claim it was they who introduced the "royal and ancient game" into Scotland, where Mary Queen of Scots became an adept.

At any rate the game is becoming increasingly popular here.

There are now a round dozen first class golf clubs in Holland; one at Clingendaal, near the Hague, is a favorite meeting place for members of the diplomatic corps, and more links are being laid out all over the country.

President Barnard Bows to President Coolidge

No one disputes the title of E. S. Barnard as president of the American league, but the President of the United States has some rights within the American league park at Washington that are not even extended to the head of the circuit. That was demonstrated at the opening of the season in the national capital.

When President Barnard drove his car up to the auto entrance of the Senators' park, he was halted by a guard who informed him that no cars were allowed within the park, by order of the fire commissioner. The league's chief executive was about to be convinced that such was the case when he happened to spy a car parked next to the Washington clubhouse.

Aha, here was a loophole. "I am president of the league," said Mr. Barnard to the guard. "I guess if that man can park his car inside, I can also."

"But," retorted the guard, "that car belongs to a sort of privileged character around here. That's President Coolidge's car."

The president of the American league graciously backed out and went his way.

QUARTET OF THOMPSONS HELP TRACK CHAMPIONS

Boston, June 8 (AP).—Northeastern University's undefeated track and field team owes much of its success this year to its four Thompsons, all runners and unrelated.

The team is champion of the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Association and holds victories over Boston University and Colby College and others.

Three of the Thompsons scored 41 points among them for the Huskies. Charley, a junior, led the clan by scoring a total of 18 points and making a new Northeastern quarter-mile record.

Stuart, a senior, was second, with a total of 13 points. William, whom his team-mates call "Red", piled up 10 points in the Huskies' indoor meets. Theron Thompson, a freshman and the youngest member of the quartet, ran the two-mile, but was too inexperienced to score for Northeastern this year.

Kingston High to Meet Middletown

At the Kingston Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon the Kingston High School varsity will close its baseball season against the Middletown High School team in the final DUSO League game. The game promises to hold much interest and it is expected that the local school boys will receive the support of a large number of fans.

The Kingston High School team is now the undisputed leader of the DUSO League. The nine picked off this honor by defeating the Newburgh Academy outfit last Wednesday in the Hilly City. The tilt was a hectic one, which lasted 13 innings. Kingston trailed the opposing team until the ninth inning when a homer by Joyce, local hurling ace, scored enough runs to tie the Newburghers, who had collected four to Kingston's one. Miller banged out a triple that scored two in the thirteenth stanza which copped the game for the locals.

Saturday's game is expected to be as interesting as the one played against Newburgh. Middletown topped the standing of the league throughout the season because the nine played more games than Kingston. The Middies dropped a game to Poughkeepsie which gave Kingston undisputed possession of the top berth. Middletown will endeavor to tie Kingston by defeating the locals on Saturday. Should the team succeed in doing this a play-off will be necessary. Kingston plans on eliminating the Middletown nine on Saturday to finish the season minus a defeat in the DUSO circuit throughout the season of the national sport. Kingston's standing at present is three won, with the loss column unblemished.

NEW UNIT SANCTIONED FOR HARVARD STADIUM

Cambridge, Mass., June 8 (AP).—The Harvard stadium, the first of America's great stadia, is going to be improved so as at least to approach in size the modern college amphitheaters erected in its wake.

Its 35,000 seating capacity, dwarfed by comparison with the great structures which have sprung up about the country, the Harvard plant years ago became inadequate.

So the Harvard Corporation has authorized tentative plans to increase the permanent seating capacity to 55,000 by closing in the open end of the big horseshoe.

WENDS of the SPREEWALD

Wend Children on Way to School by Boat.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

LONG ago, when the Goths laid waste to western Europe, a small band of half-wild fugitives hid for safety in the great swamps near the Oder—that low, flat, wooded region known now as the Spreewald. The Wends, this odd fragment of a lost tribe call themselves; and to this day they are hiding there, in this Spreewald swamp. Clannish, isolated, and happiest when left alone, they are concerned not at all with the rise and fall of nations around them.

Though in Germany, the Wends are not of it. Even the Germans themselves look on this lost tribe more as curious specimens of an ancient race than as a part of their citizen body. They are Slavs.

Probably 1,500 years have passed since the Wends first colonized in this great swamp, and sallied forth, led by their pagan kings, to kidnap children and to plunder food in what is now Poland and Germany. Today only a few thousand of the tribe remain; but through all these centuries they have clung tenaciously to their own odd speech, their social forms and superstitions; and, except for a few of their queerly clad girls, who sometimes go to Berlin as nursemaids, the Wends seldom quit their Spreewald haunts.

Yet, content as he is with his eel traps and cucumber patch, his hay field and cherry trees, the wary Wend will drive a sharp bargain with outsiders who come trading for his carved novelties, his wooden shoes and dishes, his smoked eels, and the cucumbers of his island gardens.

Stranger than his diet of eels and cucumbers, however, and stranger even than his hermitlike seclusion, is the unique plan of the Spreewalder's village and his method of getting about. The Spree river, rising down near the old Bohemian frontier, flows up through Saxony into Brandenburg and splits here into hundreds of brooks and canals whose watery network lies all over the Spreewald region and forms thousands of tiny islands. The ancient village of LeLde, built 1,400 years ago, literally covers a whole group of these islands, each individual house standing on a tiny isle all its own.

Their Streets Are Streams.

So, instead of having streets and sidewalks like any normal town, a Spreewald village is served entirely by these crooked water streets. Every family has at least one boat, and in summer the boat is the street car, so to speak; and there are lines of public boats, poled by stalwart "motormen," that run on schedule time over regular routes and loops called "Grobla."

All along these water streets there are signboards that greet you and point the way to various settlements. But instead of saying "two miles," for example, to such or such a place, the sign says "two hours," as all distance is measured by the time it takes to pole to a place.

Some phases of this novel amphibious life seem almost absurd to a visiting American. The American boy, whether he is fourteen or forty, gets a thrill from a brass band and a street parade—and so does the youth of the Spreewald. But we have distinctly American ideas about the correct uniform a brass band should wear, and we insist that a street parade shall march in the street. But the Spreewald form of celebration is wholly different. Here the members of the band dress in long black, funeral-looking coats and two-quart bowler hats; and, instead of marching, they squat in a flat boat, the bass drummer in the stern pounding away as the boat is poled along the canal!

The country here is too low and wet for grain, but wild hay is cut in abundance. A platform of piles is raised high above the swampy ground, and on this the haystack is built. Boatloads of hay, moving through the many canals, look from a distance as if they were sliding curiously about the country driven by some unseen force.

In winter the whole waterway net of the Spreewald is frozen over and becomes a veritable spider web of icy lanes and avenues. Then the Wend wears special iceshoes, with his skates built fast to them. Aided by a light ten-foot pole with a sharp spike in one end, the Spreewalder glides easily about his ice-bound colony, not for pleasure, but for speed and convenience. Then, too, all burdens that are carried by boat in summer are loaded on sleds.

Eels and Cucumbers.

Eels, cucumbers and cherry pies as big as pinwheels figure in all feasts in these Spreewald Swamps.

The Spreewald eel, slim and slippery, smoked or stewed, is enshrined in the songs and traditions of this singular community. A Spreewald swamp home without its eel traps would be like a chicken farm without chicken coops. Whether you like stewed eel or not, you can't sit down in a tiny Spreewald restaurant without buying one; it simply isn't done! And the eels, gastronomically, are mated for life with the cucumbers!

These giant cucumbers, deadly green in shade and wickedly curved like scimitars, threaten you at every turn. Cucumbers in heaps on the river banks; punts piled high with cucumbers being poled to market at Burg or Cottbus; men, women and children plucking, peeling, packing or eating cucumbers, or asleep on piles of them, are always in the summer picture. You wonder the whole world could consume such uncounted tons and not succumb to international indigestion.

Even the huge cherry pies, delicious as they are, fairly overwhelm you by their stupendous size. Throughout the region big, broad-mouthed clay ovens, built apart from the houses, are busy baking these pies, and as you glide along the canals on a still day the forest air is laden with their appetizing odor.

Buxom Wendish maidens, swamp angels in knee skirts and bare legs, push and pull the pies about in the ovens with ten-foot poles, pausing now and then to recrack some old bucolic joke with a near-by Spreewald swain busy slicing cucumbers or skinning an eel.

Tourists by thousands from near-by cities flock to this quaint nook of Europe in summer; and then the Wend cashes in his cucumbers, his eels and cherry pies, reaps a rich harvest from his oddly carved wooden geese and dolls, and takes toll for poling lovers and sightseers up and down the labyrinth of water lands dividing the Spreewald into a thousand charming green isles. Here, too, all kinds of societies and bunds come for their outings, many walking clubs of school boys and girls coming from as far away as Berlin and Leipzig.

Superstition Still Rife.

Slaves still to some ancient superstitions, the Wends carve crude wooden figures of beasts, birds and fishes and mount them on the gables of their humble huts. These images, they say, keep off evil spirits and disease and bring good luck.

Some of these old Wendish superstitions, dating back maybe 1,500 years, find their counterparts today in many rural American communities. For example, the Wends say that a crowing hen must be killed or she will bring bad luck. Another Wendish belief common among other races is that when a man dies a window should be opened, so that his soul may take its flight.

If it thunders during a Spreewald wedding every one is very unhappy, for this is a bad omen.

Make a wish when you see a shooting star and the wish will come true.

During certain dances held in the spring the farmers jump into the air, believing that the higher they jump on this occasion the higher their flax will grow.

Stewed mice will cure an alcoholic appetite, and a plague of rats is a sure sign of divine displeasure.

The dried heart of a bat killed on Christmas Eve, if carried in the pocket, will bring luck at cards.

The rattle of storks' bills comes to your ears as you approach a Spreewald village—an odd sound, like that made by a boy scraping a stick over a picket fence. When these long-legged birds nest on the roofs of houses they are supposed to bring good luck. Lightning will never strike a house while a stork is roosting on it, the Wends declare. Likewise, if a young stork falls from the nest, it is a bad omen.

Should an old stork quit her nest, the people living in the house below should also move out at once or take the consequences. The Wends say that at Creation the birds of the world chose the stork as king, and that it thinks and could converse with men if only its tongue were longer.

Co-Operation in Britain

Co-operative societies, such as wholesale, retail, productive and distributive federations and supply associations, have more than 5,000,000 members in Great Britain and Ireland. The organizations, which exceed 1,400 in number, have assets totaling above £200,000,000.

India's Plague of Beggars

It has recently been stated that at the latest twelfth-year fair at Madras, the road from the city to the bathing place—a distance of two and a half miles—was lined with religious beggars, sitting shoulder to shoulder. Each had an attendant sitting in front soliciting alms for his master.

CORPUS CHRISTI FEAST AT ST. PETER'S.

This feast which falls each year on the Thursday after Trinity Sunday is observed with public solemnization by the church on the coming Sunday. Complying with these regulations of the church's calendar, this celebration will take place at the High Mass, June 10, at 10:30 a. m. Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament during the Mass which will be followed by the "Corpus Christi Procession" formed principally by the men of the parish. Benediction will be given three times during the procession and the solemnity will be closed with the singing of the "Te Deum." Every single man is expected to be present to do honor to the Blessed Sacrament and make this open profession of his faith. In order that there will be no interference with these regulations we will have the regular General Monthly Communion of the Holy Name the coming second Sunday. All the parishioners are urged to come to these ceremonies, especially that every family be represented.

AUTO LIGHTS AID TO NIGHT SAFETY

Many Motorists Willfully Disregard Legal Requirements of State.

Among the worst dangers threatening the motorist who drives at night is the lack of lights on vehicles. Carelessness, neglect and indifference are making night driving dangerous. The willful disregard by many motorists of the legal requirements for lights on automobiles is an open invitation to accidents. Outside the cities apparently little effort is made to enforce the provisions of the state traffic law concerning them.

Travelers Invited.

Minnesota boasts of its beautiful lakes, fields and forests, proclaims its fine highways, invites travelers to come, provides recreation spots, summer resorts and camp sites for their pleasure and then by negligence exposes both its own citizens and its automobile visitors to accident and injury if they drive on the highways at night.

So far as automobiles are concerned, the uniform traffic law adopted by the legislature a year ago is specific in its lighting requirements. Two headlights, not dazzling but strong enough to illuminate the road 200 feet ahead, are required. Every automobile must have a tail light visible 500 feet from the rear.

No provision in the law is more essential. An automobile lacking a tail light is particularly dangerous. The most careful motorist cannot protect himself against smashing headlong into some blunderer who is ambling slowly along with no rear light to warn an approaching motorist, or has parked in the road to change a tire.

Law Is Defective.

The law itself is defective. It requires night lights on automobiles, motorcycles, trailers, even bicycles. But because some members of the legislature were more solicitous for the convenience than for the safety of passengers on horse-drawn vehicles, such vehicles were not included in the general provisions concerning lighting. The unlighted wagon or buggy is as difficult to see on the road at night as an automobile. Yet it can be driven anywhere without lights, front or rear. The legislature overlooked the fact that parking regulations in the uniform traffic code cover all vehicles, not merely motor vehicles. The lighting exception therefore does not extend to horse-drawn vehicles that are standing still. It is absurd but it is true that unlighted hayracks, buggies and wagons may be driven lawfully without any light whatsoever on the highways of this state, but once they have ceased moving, the law demands a light.

Defective as they are, the automobile lighting regulations are not enforced. Enforcement is left to local police authorities. They are not on the job. Cars with one headlight, cars without tail lights, even cars with no lights at all, are encountered on the most heavily traveled highways in the state. Minnesota needs a state highway patrol force to effectuate these elementary rules.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Early Overhauling Car in the Spring Favored

Car owners who recognize the wisdom of the modified form of spring overhauling which now prevails should know the advantage of getting into the shop early. Usually, just before the opening of good weather, there is a great rush for this type of work and the service and repair shops are crowded.

The car taken in early is assured of the type of service which results from giving the mechanic plenty of time. When the open road calls, it is an excellent idea to have the car ready to give a satisfactory answer.

Proper Type Spark Plug Is Important

Stressing the importance of using the correct type of spark plug, H. Habbezana, research engineer, says nearly all spark plug trouble can be traced to one of three causes: Wrong plug used. Motor operating at very low temperature. Long runs with carburetor choked or partly choked. Very rich carburetor mixture. Oil pumping.

Weather driving conditions when motor is run only short distances and never attains an operating temperature high enough to burn off and soot before it carbonizes.

Sooting and oiling trouble can often be overcome by checking and correcting conditions indicated above.

It is of first importance that the correct plug be used because a plug having insulation that is too short on the lower end will foul quickly. This is because the short insulator will not get hot enough to burn off soot and oil before carbonization takes place.

Mr. Habezzana added that as motorists change their spark plugs after 10,000 miles, they should be sure that the proper type of plug is installed.

Dash Indicator Lights Are a Big Convenience

Indicator lights fitted on your dash will tell you whether your tail and stop lights are properly burning. The wiring diagram shows how to fit and wire the indicator lights.

You can use ordinary dash lights of the type sold for automobile use, or you can get a pair of the jeweled indicator lights sold for radio use. The latter, fitted with jewels of the same color as the lights they indicate, will make a neat and attractive installation. The theory, of course, is that the indicator light is in series with the light it indicates and when either of the two bulbs in such a circuit burns out, the remaining goes out as well. Instead of 6-8 volt bulbs use 3½ volt bulbs.—Popular Science Monthly.

Indicator lights on your dash board wired as shown may save you from being arrested and fined for not having tail-light lit.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

The entire chassis of a car can now be lubricated for a small sum.

A nut or bolt is useless to the automobile if not kept fully tightened at all times.

* * *

When the car suddenly begins to steer hard, lack of lubrication is the first thing to suggest itself.

* * *

Signals are essential to motoring safety. Don't close all the windows of the car during wet or cold weather.

* * *

When warm weather arrives it is a good idea, and usually a money-saver, to have the spark plugs cleaned, the battery tested, and the ignition and lighting system checked.

* * *

Watch the upper radiator hose connection. It gives out first because it carries hotter water than the lower hose connection and hotter water is more destructive in its effects on hose lining.

The Georgia Supreme court holds that a husband cannot be held liable for damages resulting from his wife's auto driving. This does not absolve him when she drives from the back seat.

RADIO MUSIC SERVED WITH TAXI RIDE

The photograph shows the musical taxi of Frank Cowan, of Caldwell, N. J., who got the bright idea that it is just as well to serve music with a taxi ride as with a meal in a restaurant. So he installed a radio set in his cab, so located that the passenger can tune in on his favorite station. The musical taxi has been a great success.

How "30" Originated

Charles Payne Smith recently gave the following information as to the origin of "30," as used by newspapermen and telegraphers, in the Typographical Journal: The first press association, organized in Civil war times, was composed largely of morning papers published near the eastern seaboard. Each paper sent into the central office items of local interest, which were there edited and telegraphed to all members. It happened that the first message sent to the association totaled 30 words, and this figure, with the words "good night" and the signature of the sender, were placed at the bottom of the sheet by the operator. At that time piecework was the rule on all papers. The daily grist was usually set up, corrected and in the forms by 10 o'clock, but the compositors were compelled to wait around at their own expense until the foreman announced "30" was in. So "30" became a by-word among printers, symbolizing the end.

Cured

A bachelor who had a fondness for children was a favorite with the little girl next door. The little miss was much concerned recently when her bachelor friend was confined home for a few days with ear trouble. On one occasion she chanced to drop in while her elderly friend was dropping some medicine into one of his ears, in the process of which he unconsciously placed his finger in his other ear. "Do you have to hold the other ear shut so that it won't run out the other side?" his visitor asked. This remark created such hearty laughter that the bachelor said something seemed to "pop" in the vicinity of his ear drums, following which medical attention was no longer needed.—Indianapolis News.

Tact

Strange how many mistake the appearance of power for power itself. Many seem rather to want the trappings of power, the titles and the gold braid, than power itself. Thomas Bailey Aldrich, novelist, once said: "The ability to secure your own way and impress others with the idea that they are having their own way is rare among men; among women it is as common as eyebrows."

Tact is more powerful than a battery of machine guns—or a tractor. It takes a high order of brains to get your own way and make others think they are having theirs.—Grove Patterson, in the Mobile Register.

Three Important Events

Right now and in the very near future there are three important events, namely Children's Day, Graduation and Summer Vacations. All three of these events call for appropriate footwear to harmonize with the rest of one's wearing apparel.

We are particularly well supplied with lines of attractive footwear of the latest designs adapted for each of the above events.

For Children's Day

Attractive Patent Leather and Colored Pumps made on Nature Formed Lasts, constructed of the best materials and properly fitted by us. Then there are the new 3 eyelet models for the little folks in colors and black patent leathers. In fact our Children's Department is the most complete we have had in years both in dress models and the kinds of footwear that you will be glad to have the youngsters wear all summer.

Graduation Footwear

The Graduating young ladies will admire the assortments of pumps and ties we have assembled this season for the festivities of Graduation Week. Patent Leathers, White Kid, Silver Kid, Black Kid, Black Satin are the most sought after materials. Some will want high spike heels and others Cuban heels. All are now on hand in attractive models.

For the young men we suggest our light weight Black Oxfords of Patent Leather and Black Calfskin.

For Vacation Wear

Sturdier Footwear carrying lower heels than the dress models will find great favor among those who expect to spend their vacations in the great outdoors. We are prepared to take care of the calls of all ages on this class of footwear. Our greatest aim is to so fit the wearers of our footwear that they will get the utmost of comfort and satisfaction from the models they select.

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. James M. E. Church who are conducting the rummage sale at 124 Hasbrouck avenue would like the public to know that they will have many articles of good clothing and other useful things for sale. The sale will not close until Saturday night.

Popular for Flavoring

Anise is grown chiefly for its aromatic seeds (fruits), which are used medicinally and also in baking and for flavoring confectionery. The oil distilled from the seeds is used medicinally in cordials and also for flavoring various beverages. Yields of anise seed are quite variable, since the plant is very sensitive to unfavorable weather conditions. In a good season from 400 to 600 pounds per acre may be reasonably expected.

World Needs Wisdom That Comes With Age

Thank God for the old folks! They supply the balance so necessary in not only this but every day and age.

Youth may rail at the older generation for being "old fogies" and "behind the times." But snowy crowns bring a seasoning of reasoning which the snap judgment of youth lacks. Old age can look back and profit from years of experience, while youth, though fired with enthusiasm and ambition, has yet to undergo the ordeal of fire. This "pep" in youth is, of course, a component part of life, but we also need that sagacious and maturity of opinion which comes only with advanced years.

One generation, in effect, acts as a check on the other, yet it cannot be denied that youth has in the past, does now and always must, depend on its elders to impart wisdom and good advice. Especially today, when youth is inclined to be reckless, should the admonition and guidance of the old folks count for the value that it really is.

Life is as the cycle of seasons which needs its autumn as much as its spring. Spring is a beautiful expression of budding life. But autumn is none the whit less beautiful—and necessary. Though youth, like spring, gives us love and roses, it remains for autumn to produce the harvest. In other words, it is age which gives the needed mellowness to the green sprouts of rash youth.

Again we say, God bless the old folks!—Pathfinder Magazine.

Troubles in Plenty for Court Officials

The master mind in control of state and social functions at the court of St. James occasionally must solve some extraordinary problems, according to Percy Armytage, who reveals himself as that astute functionary in his book, "By the Clock of St. James."

In making arrangements for the coronation of King Edward, Armytage found he must discover close to Buckingham palace a house large enough to accommodate the attending maharajah of Jaipur with his suite of 200 and that there must be accommodations in the same house for a cow. The house must also have a well since he was informed that neither the maharajah nor his servants would touch water that had flowed through pipes.

Such a house finally was found and then he turned his attention to obtaining the cow. She must have short horns and be pure white. When the maharajah came and found all this provided he took it as a matter of course and calmly gave instructions that the cow must not be killed at any time after his departure, but must die a natural death. This she was permitted to do after being maintained in luxury and idleness for many years.

His Wise Words

"Instead of heaping together the little ills of life and making mountains of them," said old Festus Pester, "we should try to slide through existence as easily as possible, consistent with honor and dignity—he who talks and runs away may live to talk another day. We should bear in mind that women, politics, weather predictions and nine-tenths of everything else are always uncertain, and not fix our faith too strongly upon them. If we have cares and ills and miseries and disappointments and are humbled and ignored and derided let us remember that there are always others and they are generally in town."—Kansas City Star.

A Sun Secret

A rather dull student found it impossible to believe that the earth is round, in spite of the arguments of an eminent astronomer.

"But look here, Johnson," said the astronomer, "you must see that the earth cannot be anything else but round. Now, tell me, where does the sun rise?"

"In the east, of course!"

"And where does it set?"

"In the west."

"Well, then, how does it manage to get back in the east again by the morning?"

Johnson thought hard for a minute. Then an intelligent look dawned in his eye.

"Why, of course," he said at last, "it just slips back in the night!"

Twin Coincidence

Mary and Jane, sisters, were married June 12, 1924, to John and Bill, brothers.

On Christmas day, December 25, 1927, twins, a boy and a girl, were born to Mary and John. On the same day twins, a boy and a girl, were born to Jane and Bill.

The baby boys weighed identically the same, 7½ pounds, each weighing more than his baby sister, while the weight of the girls differed ½ pound. —Capper's Weekly.

Not Quite

An American history class in one of the high schools had been having an interesting discussion of Civil war songs.

"Now," continued the teacher, "who can name a song inspired by John Brown's experience?"

"John Brown's body lies over the ocean," exclaimed one member of the class enthusiastically.

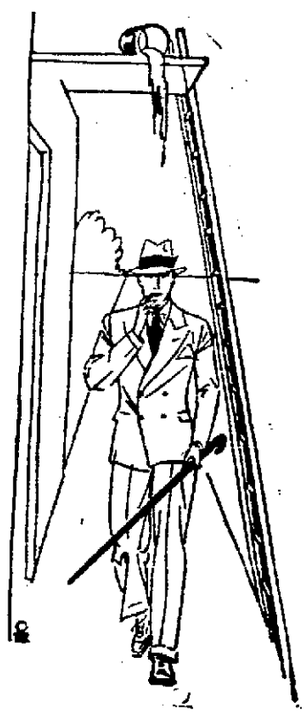
25th Anniversary Year

A Story of 3-year-old Tommy Jones and His Father.



Tommy: "Oh, Daddy, what is the man doing?"

Father: "He's walking in under the ladder, Tommy."

"Oh, look at the paint, daddy, why is it spilling on him?"

"Because he's being punished not only for walking in under the ladder, Tommy, but because he causes a lot of sorrow by still wearing that felt hat at this time of summer."

"But daddy, to whom does he cause sorrow?"

"Tommy, think of those pretty little straws and Panamas that are still left up to Dave's, and how they long to be with their many friends that were formerly with them, but now are out in the world smiling the beauty of Kantrowitz hats from the heads of well informed men. And it is men like the man in the picture above, with hard hearts, that don't take pity on these innocent straws and Panamas up to Dave's that sell at 95c up to $5.00."

"Daddy, where do the straws and Panamas come from?"

"Well, son, some are from the balmy lands of Italy, others from Porto Rico and Cuba, some from Spain, some from Japan and many from our own country!"

"Daddy, why does Dave always sell so many hats?"

"Because he has style and quality and value, son!"

"When I get big, I'm going to buy my hats at Dave's, just like you do, Dad!"

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

You buy the best milk for your children—but do you keep it cold enough to check bacterial growth? Don't say "Yes" without taking the temperature of your refrigerator. If it doesn't register well below 50 degrees, your milk is not safe. The average temperature of a General Electric Refrigerator in household use is 42 degrees. This is the scientifically correct refrigeration that safeguards health. Come in and see the many models.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

"Such a pretty girl!" That is so often Dame Fashion's inward exclamation as she walks along streets or attends various functions. It is certainly one of the joys of life to see these girls. Made to appear fairy before a large Kiwanis club and supposed to tell in three minutes how much she knew about the organization of Camp Fire Girls, there was great pleasure gained in hearing a real little Camp Fire girl repeat the law and credo of the society. "Seek beauty," declared the little girl, and Dame Fashion realized then that when she looks with admiration at all of these lovely young women, and at the thousand creations in the shops which tend to add to their beauty, she is just carrying out one of the chosen Camp Fire laws.

Grace J. Austin.

But the more mature women make a fine appearance, too. Listening lately to a large annual banquet of women, a speaker who has addressed many such occasions said, "I have been looking about over the 200 women gathered here and I want to tell you that I never saw you all look so beautiful before." It was a delightful thing for those women to hear, and smiles wreathed every face.

Dame Fashion, with proper modesty, kept her seat, but she felt like rising right up and almost shouting, "Don't you want to know the reason why they all look so beautiful?" It is because styles and fabrics and shades and accessories—all of the things that this column is supposed to discuss—never began to be so beautiful before as they are now. Art used to sit off somewhere aloof, in oil paintings, maybe, and possibly—though that is very doubtful, in America—in statuary. But now art has seen a light and has just taken a place in shoe designing, in pocketbook construction, in forms of becoming little close hats, in sweeping coat-lines, and in graceful gowns without a stiff, ungainly line in them.

Dame Fashion was congratulating a dear friend on a new wonderful black fox scarf, and what do you think? She she had it quite a number of years ago when such were worn all flattened out like a door-mat. He had been all safely put away in a cedar chest ever since he went out of fashion. Now skill and the style touches of those who have studied a myriad of real foxes have put him together, so that instead of a mat—warm though that was—now he is an art creation. He is a fox.

If you think that Dame Fashion has been bragging too highly of 1928, she wishes you could all come to see her and she would show you pictures—not of Civil war days, with their hoop skirts; not even of World war days, with the straight military simplicity that insensibly crept into gown lines but of as recent days as those of 1926. She thinks you would surely be convinced. One of these days Dame Fashion is going to tell you a pretty story of a wedding, where the bridegroom came from the Atlantic coast and the bride from the Pacific coast, and the kind of wedding dress which was used for the ceremony, which took place not so far from the geographical center of the country.

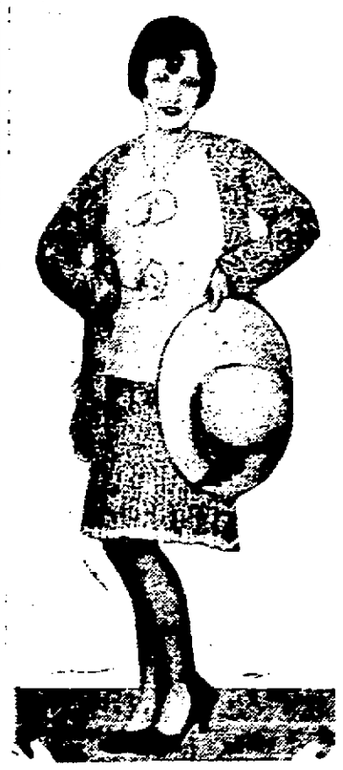
Foulard Is Used for This Hollywood Model



Foulard is foremost in the newest flapper regalia. A jacket of three-quarter length foulard is piped in white flat crepe to match the over-blouse worn with it by Doris Dalton, featured motion picture player.

Gray Ensemble

A coat and skirt of gray kasha gains much chic by the addition of blouse of gray crepe de chine stitched with rows of deeper gray silk.

Banana Culture

The species of bananas grown for fiber and for ornament usually produce seed, and are propagated by planting seeds. The edible banana of commerce has a perennial root, from which the plant is perpetuated by sprouts, or suckers.

Lingerie Harmony Is Urged by Mode

New Underclothing Designed With View to Utmost Convenience.

Lingerie in the latest styles is designed in ensembles. Underwear and all of the dainty gowns and accessories to be worn in the boudoir are made to harmonize with the entire lounging costume. In silken and filmy stuffs it follows the lines and repeats the colors and schemes of trimming of the summer gowns. Chemises or combinations are made with dips at the back, or the reverse, and with slashed sides, plaiting and lace and flower ornaments. Under her costume for the street, for afternoon or evening the modish woman is dressed with the same eye to harmony as is evident in her gown.

Many materials go into the making of the new lingerie, advises a fashion correspondent in the New York Times. There is still the preference for sheer stuffs, and the universal demand is for washable fabrics, for weaves and tints that, however charming, will stand the test of soap and water.

A great variety of beautiful stuffs is meeting this demand. Those of the artificial silks particularly are warranted to come triumphantly from the tub as well as to withstand hard wear and tear.

In some of these materials patterns of dainty printed figures of conventionalized flowers or an infinitesimal dot or check present pretty combinations of colors. Yet in underthings, as in many of the smartest gowns and ensembles, the preference is for solid colors.

Most Popular Material.

Crepe de chine is the material most in demand for fine lingerie, lending itself well to the fine tucking, hemstitching, fagoting, herringbone, cross-stitch and embroidery that go into the embellishment of the latest underwear. Chemises, step-ins and night-gowns of crepe de chine are also made in this way. The garments have a somewhat tailored look, though each is finished with a bit of real lace.

With the evolution of the silhouette there has appeared an altogether new "set" of underwear. Gradually one, two and even three items have been eliminated, and the whole scheme of dressing thereby greatly simplified, to the comfort of the wearer. The suit of lingerie, to be comfortable, must be well fitted. The straight chemise, full gathered step-in and bloomers, which led the way out of stiff underdressing, have been modified and improved, and the best made underthings today are cut to fit the figure closely and to form an easy basis over which to slip the gown.

They are made of different materials, according to the type of costume. The most satisfactory, all-around garment is the envelope chemise of crepe de chine, voile or ninon. The best style in this is one that is finished with fine tucks, drawn work, a little embroidery, and with perhaps a bit of narrow lace sewn on the edge. Something of a curve is followed in the side seams and the length of leg is short.

A one-garment model of this sort is practical and may be worn with comfort under a sports suit or a more elaborate dress. For the simpler costume a plain garment is proper, one with little or no trimming and tailored in style. Some of the best models of this type have a monogram embroidered in front, at one side of the chest or high on one shoulder. This is done in a plain or modernistic design.

Step-Ins Elaborate.

Step-ins for afternoon or evening wear are made of delicate fabrics and elaborately finished. The fashionable French model at present is a combination, being a chemise and drawers in one. It is always made of a very soft, sheer material, usually ninon, and is trimmed from top to bottom with lace. A combination of this description made by a well-known house in Paris is of champagne-colored ninon in one piece with several seams, in which the material is joined with fagoting. Lace that is dyed to match the material is inset around the top and at the knee and sides of the drawers, which are shaped by means of a ribbon seam and clusters of handmade roses. This garment, like all the lowest models, has shoulder straps of ribbon to match in color.

Some of these combinations designed to be worn with evening dress are cut with plain-fitting decollete bodice and skirt or drawers, attached with gathers or small tucks to a belt at the normal waistline.

Attractive occasional garments are shown among the collections of lingerie. There are little breakfast jackets in pretty colors, trimmed with lace and ribbons, breakfast coats, negligees and tea coats and tea gowns. A charming jacket to be worn when coffee is served in bed is made of pale blue chiffon under sheer ivory lace, which covers the wide elbow sleeves and forms a deep cape collar which completely covers the back. Wide blue satin ribbon is drawn around the neck and down each side of the open front to the belt, where it is caught in two clusters of gathers with a spray of small flat flowers made of cire ribbon in dresden colors and tipped with silver. This model is equally flattering in yellow and in wild rose pink chiffon with silk novelty lace.

A bit more substantial are the bed and breakfast jackets made of crepe, of satin and of fine French flannel in light colors. These are elaborated with needlework in floss and bound with ribbon around the straight or scalloped edges.

Long or three-quarters-length coats for morning or tea time are made in different styles and materials. Some, of crepe satin or taffeta, are cut on tailored lines and are to be worn over a slip of the same goods or something softer, such as lace and chiffon. Much blue in the new shades is shown in these coats.

Polka Dots in Picture.

A revival that is greeted with enthusiasm on both sides of the water is the polka dot. In materials of many sorts dots are printed, woven or embroidered in a great variety of patterns. The old style, mathematically spaced polka dot has no prestige today, and the new dotted materials are being very cleverly done, with original spacings and groupings, in which dots of various sizes are assembled. The success of some striking models among the French collections is due to their artistic treatment of polka dot and coin prints in combination with plain goods.

One ensemble that stands out comes to this side from Redfern. It is composed of a slender, supple gown of the type that one French modiste describes as having "fluid grace," made, in this model, of black crepe satin printed in large white dots. The bodice ends in curved side panels rounded in front like a man's cutaway, and a narrow girdle of the satin is wound about the waist almost at the normal point. The neck is round and is bound simply with a piping of the goods. The top coat to complete this costume is of white broadcloth and lined throughout with the dotted satin, and a scarf of black lynx adds a flattering note.

Black and white and navy blue and white are now, as ever, exceedingly popular for summer, because of their freshness, and some lovely color compositions are shown in dark blue dots printed on a pastel blue background, dark green on pale green, and many variants in brown with beige, tan and ivory.

Pullman coats and lounging pajamas are again receiving attention, for the time for vacations as well as for honeymoons is at hand. Serviceable coats to wear on trains and boats are made in conservative prints on dark grounds, the color being gained only by the gay designs, which are in floral effects or in motifs reflecting the influence of modern art. These coats are made more in dress styles, although they maintain the comfortable features of lounging garments.

Keltic Cross Symbol

Keltic crosses are such as were found on the Blessed isle, one of the Hebrides group known as Iona. Some authorities believe that the circular symbol, which appears at the connection of the upright beam and the cross-beam, is the sign of the sun.

Best Days Over

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, June 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Matthews are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son, Wilbur, Jr., at their home on Broadway. Both mother and son are doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Van Wagenen who have spent some time at Mohonk Lake, are spending a few weeks at their home on Green street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ross Neal are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter, Norma June, at their home in East River, Conn. Mr. and Mrs. Neal were former residents of this place. Mrs. Neal was formerly Miss Eva Van Wagener.

Hope Temple, No. 80, Pythian Sisters, will meet Monday evening, June 11, at 8 o'clock in their rooms on Broadway.

There was a large attendance at the W. C. T. U. meeting in the Methodist Episcopal Church home Thursday afternoon of last week. Adresses were given by the Rev. Philip Goertz, pastor of the Reformed Church, and the Rev. William H. Rathbun, pastor of the Methodist Church. There was a good representation present from the Kingston Union. The meeting was one long to be remembered as it was very interesting and inspiring. Delicious refreshments were served by an efficient committee. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. E. H. Bishop, president of the union.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church held at the home of Mrs. Lorenzo Reynolds Thursday afternoon. This society is in a progressive condition and the members are doing a lot of work. During the months of July and August there will be no meetings.

George Caniff, who was recently operated on at the City of Kingston Hospital, was brought to his home on Schryver street Thursday.

The Dorcas Society will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Lester Ferguson on Broadway this evening.

Kennell-Rider Case Appealed.

Notice of appeal has been served and bond filed in the action of Henry Kennell against George W. Rider and Annie Rider. The appeal is taken from the verdict of the jury in supreme court in this city, a few months ago, when $2,000 damages was awarded to Kennell in an action for alienation of his wife's affections. The appeal is being made on issues of law and fact in the case. Lloyd R. LeFevre and Andrew J. Cook represent Kennell and Grant M. Brinnier is the attorney for Mr. and Mrs. Rider.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 8 (AP).—Speculative uneasiness over monetary conditions, which was intensified by the increase of nearly [illegible] in brokers' loans last week, was reflected in a sharp downward trend of prices in today's stock market. Extreme losses in the active issues ranged from 2 to nearly 10 points, although some recoveries took place during the afternoon.

The huge expansion of loans came as a surprise and was generally attributed to the heavy financing of new offerings. Call money was in such plentiful supply that the renewal rate was fixed at 5½ per cent as against 6 yesterday and 6½ the day before.

There was little in the day's trade news to influence the price movement. The Sinclair Company announced an advance of half a cent a gallon in the tank wagon price of gasoline. The National Lumber Association reported that the seasonal curtailment of operations and sales was beginning to be felt. Chain Store sales continue in excess of the corresponding period last year.

Strong buying support for Radio, which rallied from a low of 191½ to 195¾, stimulated the afternoon recovery.

Selling pressure was most effective against the high priced specialties. Case Threshing broke 9½ points, Wright Aeronautical 8; Archer Daniels Midland 7¾, and International Harvester 7.

Declines of 4 points or more were recorded by more than a score issues, including A. M. Byers, Delaware & Hudson, Atlantic Refining, Frank G. Shattuck, Packard Motors, Adams Express, and Midland Steel Products preferred.

ON TRIAL FOR BRIBERY, ACCUSES DRY CHIEF

Rochester, June 8 (AP).—A tale of alleged corruption and hush money on the part of Milford H. Combs, Elmira dry chief, was told in Federal court today by Dave Lewis, on trial on charges of attempted bribery.

Lewis testified that he was approached by Combs, made a "go-between" in a beer deal and then trapped by the dry forces after he had been double-crossed by Combs.

It was Combs, Lewis swore, who first mentioned the subject and said that it was possible to ship a car of beer a week into Elmira.

Thomas Paine's Place in American History

A writer in the Detroit News pays this splendid tribute to one of the great spirits of the American Revolution:

"Thomas Paine was the first man to use the words that now echo over the whole world: 'the United States of America.' As one of the leading lights of the American Revolution, he was of great importance, although none of his many writings indicate that he had a gift for practical statesmanship. His words formed everywhere with a large and splendid ardor for American ideals, for liberty, equality, and the right to happiness.

"His pamphlet, 'Common Sense,' printed in 1776 and followed by the various numbers of 'The American Crisis,' stirred and spurred Americans to the road to freedom more than any other words produced in those days by tongue or pen, unless they were those of the Declaration of Independence. When all men were hesitating over the subject of final separation from Great Britain, he spoke boldly, demanding to be shown any reason for argument or delay. He preached federal union, that petty jealousies and local narrowness be forgotten:

"'Our great title is Americans—our inferior one varies with the place.'"

Great Novel Writers "Dubs" in Limericks

A glimpse of that great old novelist and poet, George Meredith, amusing himself at the end of his days and cheating infirmities by composing "limericks" in the vain hope of winning one of the prizes offered by vendors of commodities for the best "limericks" advertising their goods, is given by Anthony Hope, in his book, "Memoirs and Notes."

Hope, Israel Zangwill and Herbert Trench were appointed a deputation representing the Society of Authors to go down to Box Hill and congratulate Meredith, president of the society, on his eightieth birthday in 1908. The then "limerick" craze was mentioned during the conversation, and Hope confessed that he had tried his hand at writing them without success.

"I've sent in some, too," said Meredith, unexpectedly. "I sent them in my nurse's name. But I've never got a prize either."

Hides for Bass Drums

Steer or cow hides are used in the manufacture of the larger size bass-drum heads, calf on the smaller. A large manufacturer of drums says: "We had occasion to make an exceptionally large drum—in fact, the largest which was ever constructed—some few years ago for the University of Chicago. This drum measured eight feet and some inches, and the skin which was used for the head of this drum measured, when trimmed ready for mounting, 102 inches. Our order for this drum called for as large a bass drum as possible, and, of course the size of the drum was determined by the size of hide which was available at that time. Our purchasing department made a trip to the Union stock yards of Chicago; spent three days at the stock yards looking over the cattle for these hides, and as the bass drum had two heads it was necessary to find two just alike. The actual cost of this instrument to us—in other words, our factory cost—was $1,100, which cost included special tools required in the manufacture of this instrument."

Positive Proof

Mrs. Jones was one day accosted by a beggar whose healthy appearance startled even her into doubt of the need of charity in this case.

"Why!" she exclaimed, "you look well able to work."

"Yes," replied the beggar, "but I have been deaf and dumb for seven years."

"Poor man! What an affliction," said Mrs. Jones, as she handed him a dime.

On returning home she related the instance, and remarked:

"What a dreadful thing it is to be deprived of such faculties!"

"But how," asked her daughter, "did you know the man was deaf and dumb?"

"Why?" replied Mrs. Jones innocently, he told me so!"

On a Diet

"Yes, I'm dieting," said the woman who was growing quite plump. "You see I made a mistake in my lip-reading at the Speech Readers' club the other day. The instructor said (for us to read her lips). 'All those who would like to be fatter please raise their hands.' My lip-reading powers were poor that day and I thought she said, 'All those who would like to go to France raise their hands,' so I put mine way up. The rest of the club members gave one look at me and howled with delight. Yeah, I've been dieting ever since." — Springfield Union.

"Logging" Made Easier

By the old system of logging, the great pieces of timber lay upon the ground until there was sufficient snow to "snake" them to the water. By the most modern methods the logs are carried over the snowdrifts by means of a mono-rail system, which supports the carrier with its cargo a few feet above the ground. Time and money are saved, for the construction cost of the "L" line is not great.

Curative Oil

Carron oil is a mixture of equal parts of linseed oil and limewater. It is employed as a dressing for burns and takes its name from the Carron Iron works in Scotland, where it was generally used.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, June 8.—John K. Smalley of Libertyville celebrated his 75th birthday May 31 by doing a hard day's work on the farm.

Esther Haight of the Normal spent Memorial Day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Haight, at Bangall, Dutchess county.

The teachers of the beginners' and primary classes of the Reformed Church Bible school gave a party to the youngsters on Friday afternoon, May 25 at the parsonage. Before the hour of 3 there had arrived nearly forty were present. A few games were played and one of the boys entertained on the piano. Then came the man who was the entertainer, Fred VanDeusen magician and mystifier. He quickly had his table of apparatus set up and the fun began. Bernard Faulkner, having a yearning for the magician's life was invited to assist Mr. Van Deusen. He did not feel so well at first, but after an egg had been removed from his ear he felt better. Under the spell of the magician the egg which Bernard had was soon lost to be found in an empty bag that William McKenna had been holding. Large rings linked themselves together and then came apart when the audience blew on them. Two ropes tied around Mr. Van Deusen's neck, after Perry LeFevre and Lester Dunham had tested them for flaws, came apart. The magician claimed he lifted his head off to take the ropes off but his hearers were doubtful. Other tricks and stunts followed one after the other culminating in the cooking of a cake. An empty tin had colored paper put into it which was lighted, a cover was put on the whole, shaken, magic words said, and the dish appeared full of candy kisses. The distribution of the candy was thought to be the best part of the trick by the children. Ice cream and cake furnished by the teachers completed the party.

Mrs. Alice Buckridge entertained guests on Sunday.

Mrs. Thomas Krom visited Kingston Thursday of last week.

Miss Doris Brooks of the Normal visited Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hepworth at Milton over the week end.

Grace and George Clinton spent last Wednesday with their parents in Modena.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Gaffney called on relatives in Marlborough on Memorial Day.

Mrs. Oliver Sherman with the help of her sister, Miss Chorlista Ean, of Ohioville, gave their mother, Mrs. Ezra Ean, a surprise birthday party, May 25. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Sherman that evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alsdorf, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Trimborn, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ean, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shaw, Mrs. Charles Bell, Louis Ean, Mrs. Georgia Sherman and James Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Goldt. At a late hour refreshments were served after the guests had spent a pleasant evening playing cards and other games. Mrs. Ean is known by many New Paltz friends. She received a number of beautiful and useful gifts.

Edward Cumisky of Marlborough called on relatives in New Paltz Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hornbeck and Mr. and Mrs. Levi Terwilliger motored to Kingston Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Van Vliet and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest D. Miller of Newburgh called on Webb Kniffen and family Sunday and attended the Children's Day entertainment in the Methodist Church, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay LeFevre and daughter, Elaine, and Mrs. Bertha Denniston were invited guests of the Smileys, at Mohonk over the week end. It was the occasion of the Bankers' Convention.

Mrs. Lawrence H. VandenBerg entertained at luncheon on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allen of Flushing spent the week end with Mrs. Frank Allen.

Mrs. Sarah Van Orden, wife of the late Dr. Stillwell of Pine Bush, New York, died the past week. The burial was in New Paltz on Monday. Mrs. Stillwell was a cousin of Daniel A. Hasbrouck and C. L. Van Orden.

The Rev. and Mrs. Alfred R. Hill of Staatsburg formerly of New Paltz, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deyo on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Hill are leaving Staatsburg soon for Michigan.

Mrs. Harry Humphrey with her son have moved to New Paltz and are living in the house which she recently purchased from C. C. Ward.

The Rev. and Mrs. Frank R. Wilson of Cornwall, formerly of New Paltz, are happy to announce the birth of a son in St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh on Friday, May 25.

Perry Deyo and daughter, Winifred, of New York city were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Deyo on South Chestnut street.

Mrs. Eltinge Harp spent one day recently with her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Enlund, at Plutarch.

MISS DEWITT TEACHES CRIPPLE TO USE LEGS

A picture of Miss Sarah DeWitt, daughter of Matthew T. E. DeWitt of Hurley, and Rita Baird, 5-year-old cripple, whom she taught the use of her legs in a Y. W. C. A. swimming pool where she is director, appeared in the Syracuse American of June 3. Miss DeWitt's work in the Syracuse "Y" has brought about a plan for the establishment of a crippled children's swimming pool.

Miss DeWitt is a graduate of Kingston High School and of the Central School of Physical Education, New York city. She has a number of friends in Kingston, who will be pleased to hear of her accomplishment.

Ancient Ceremony of Blessing the Waters

The blessing of the waters is a quaint ceremony to be seen in countries where the Greek church exists. It occurs during the first winter season and is attended with great demonstrations and rejoicings.

Extensive preparations are made the day before the ceremony. A route is set apart leading from the church to the spot on the quay that has been selected for the ceremony, a carpet of straw being laid down. In general, the day of the ceremony is a bitterly cold one, but this circumstance does not deter the populace from attending en masse. They arrive on foot and in sledges and are attired in national dress. All horses are gayly caparisoned with worsted favors and tassels and motor cars are similarly decked out.

On the quay a layman is actively engaged in stirring a barrel of water to keep it from freezing. At ten o'clock, heralded by the blare of many brass instruments, the priests leave the church, preceded by a troop of cavalry. With them are borne numbers of religious emblems and banners. The priests chant as they march to the quay, where they go through the special form of blessing the waters of the country.

Water so blessed is then distributed among the people and each recipient treasures the few drops that fall to his share.

In Millionaire Class at Least for Minute

Perhaps the judge who declared that there must be something wrong with people who write fiction, had Colonel Dey, creator of Nick Carter, the dime-novel character, in mind when he made the remark.

Colonel Dey, according to those who knew him well, had not the slightest regard for the value of money. One day he wouldn't have a dime and the next, he would be comparatively rich, but neither state seemed to influence him in the least.

It is related how, on one occasion, he had two hundred dollars, all at one time. Did he save it? He did not. Learning that a palatial yacht was for sale at the cost of many thousands, he paid the two hundred as the initial payment for it, knowing that it would also be his last. With that one magnificent gesture, he was a millionaire for about one minute.

Oglethorpe's Forethought

Oglethorpe was eager that his expedition to found a colony in Georgia should be completely successful, and when in November, 1732, his history-making voyage was about to begin, he cast his eye over the supplies that had been taken aboard the good ship Anne. His orders had been implicitly obeyed. Not only had ample food supplies been put in the hold, but there were also agricultural implements, household utensils, tools, weapons, munitions and stores of all kinds that the colonists might need upon the arrival. Yet he was not satisfied, it would seem, for he inquired how many families were sailing, and upon being told their number was thirty-five, he remarked that they were likely to need some mild liquid refreshment and ordered "ten tons of Alderman Parson's best beer" stowed below.—Exchange.

Origin of the Polka

A Hungarian dancing master on a walking tour in the 1830s stopped at a small village in Poland where he saw a peasant girl dancing a folk dance that particularly pleased him. He brought back the new steps to Prague, where the dance immediately won great popularity, and named it polka for the land of its origin.

The polka was introduced to America about a decade later, when James K. Polk was a Presidential candidate. Because of the similarity of names the polka became a campaign dance. Articles of various kinds were named for the dance—polka scarfs, polka gloves and finally the polka dot.

Nice Men

I greatly admire a nice man. He needn't have a great amount of money, or wit, or wisdom, or ability; if he is agreeable, and fair, and polite, and honest, and treats me decently, I admire him, he is so unusual. I know such a man in Miami, Fla., and often go into his little store to admire him. He is not great, but he is not a task to anyone. On the other hand, I often see a lot of poor kin hanging around he is useful to. And he does his share in community progress; neglects none of the simple duties a good citizen should respect.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Another Island

There was a good laugh at the Logan street school when a teacher asked a small boy where the island of Java was.

"I don't know," replied the small boy without hesitation.

"My gracious, don't you know where your coffee comes from?"

"Oh, yes," said the boy, "we get it from our next-door neighbor.—Los Angeles Times.

Start Right

Start right in your struggle with life. Then the battle is half won. You can't start right by sudden resolve. It is a habit built by careful practice and steady training in the younger years of life.—Grit.

When a Man's a Bull

An authority on women's shops complains that the expression, "A man in a gift shop" should supersede the bull in the china shop as a symbol of the inappropriate.—Woman's Home Companion.

"Deodands" Would Set King Up in Business

If it were customary or possible for the king of Great Britain and Ireland rigidly to exercise his royal prerogatives, he would, in the course of a few months, become the owner of many vehicles, especially motor cars, that traverse the streets and roads of his kingdom, since he is entitled to all deodands.

A deodand is "an article which has proved the immediate and accidental occasion of the death of any reasonable creature." This right was for hundreds of years enforced as a means of swelling the royal exchequer and, legally speaking, could still be enforced.

If a man were killed, by being run over, the vehicle and its contents, as well as the horse, became the king's property. The number of "reasonable creatures" (and dogs might be included by some within this category) run over by motors in England would keep the king in automobiles until he would be obliged to construct many garages.

The well-dressed men, say the tailors, must have at least five overcoats but fortunately for the multitude one good overcoat will keep a man warm.

About the only difference between spinach and the old-fashioned spanking, as a punishment, is that nobody pretended spanking was rich in some kind of vitamines.

The tomb of an ancient king in Ur was strewn with the bodies of musicians. This proves conclusively that the saxophone is not a modern invention.

New Industry For Marlborough

Marlborough is to have a new industry in the near future. Concrete slabs for constructional work will be manufactured on the Rosoff property, just north of the ... sand and gravel bank in that village, by a New York concern. When the plant opens approximately 20 men will be employed and if the product creates a great enough demand, more men will be hired.

Workmen are at present clearing the ground at the Rosoff place for the erection of a large building which will be the center of the industry. Construction of the building will be started as soon as lumber and other materials arrive. A man by the name of McDonald, representing the firm of concrete slab manufacturers, has already taken up residence in Marlborough.

"The posse's quarry was a former stone cutter." It sounds reasonable.

Strange that men should call money "dough." Dough sticks to your fingers.

A nice six months' rest, beginning some time next month, would be an Eskimo day dream.

If you call this a wave of prosperity we'd sure like to know who in thunder is waving it.

Underworld literature is of itself not so startling as the conspicuous popular demand for it.

Vienna continues to command more affection for its poets and musicians than for its politicians.

Appreciating Sleep

[illegible]

... They realize ... the goods ... like ..., and that for the waits ... every effort. Then comes the ... appreciation of sleep. It takes on a beneficent ... after even aside from the delightful after-effects; one yearns for sleep even through the day's concerns with their absorbing details. Sluggards, so called, who are slow to rise in the mornings and who try to fix the disappearing dream, are mostly people of many years. It is youth's part to spring from its bed alert on the instant, having done with sleep. For him its priceless oblivion exists only on sufferance, its woven spell is a forgotten wraith.

A gentleman came in the office to buy some land posters that he had seen advertised in our paper for sale. He said he was more anxious to protect his birds than he was his squirrels and other game, says the Centreville Press. People he said would come out in their cars and hunt without permission, and shoot all or nearly all the birds. Nearly all birds with a few exceptions are the best friends that a farmer can have, and few of them realize the importance of protecting the birds. Some of the birds are not even fit for human consumption, and are killed only for the sport of hunting. If you are a farmer or a friend of a farmer, think twice, or more, if necessary, before you kill birds that are the farmers' best friends. The squirrels and rabbits do not eat insects, and as far as we know of their habits, they do not help, but hinder the farmer, so kill them, but spare the birds.

It is very important that young people learn to work. The earlier they start the better. It should not be work that will injure their health or deprive them of their just share of the pleasures of youth, but it should be work, real work. As they get older work becomes a pleasure and will soon grow into a habit. A person who has acquired the habit of work will be saved from most of the troubles and the vexations of life, says the Rushville Republican. It is true that laziness is the root of all evil. Young people often wonder why old folks who have all they need for this life do not retire and take it easy. They do not understand that such people work for the pleasure of it, and that the material gain is of secondary importance to them.

A promise made to a child should be kept as faithfully as one made to a grownup. Never deceive yourself about a child forgetting a promise. What can you expect of your children if you make them promises and never regard them seriously enough to fulfill them? Nothing more vicious could be inculcated in the child than deception and this is what broken promises amount to, says the Hartford City News. Can you wonder in after years if your progeny is so unreliable that people point to them and remark: "You never can believe anything they say."

One can now understand why Apollo, god of music, wore robes which hung from his shoulders, but Sir Thomas Beecham shows that the modern musician is superior to the buffetings of fate. For now that he is back in London, he admits that his suspenders broke during an exciting passage in a New York concert, and yet, despite that distraction, he conducted the orchestra to a triumphant conclusion, says the Baltimore Sun. To be sure, even the most temperamental of musicians in action might well refrain from complaining about defective suspenders, for in that crisis there is nothing to do but suffer and hope.

Fifty years ago today in Atchison a public speaker said the people had grown careless and thoughtless and immoral, and that within 25 years from then the country would be on the rocks. But our country is in effect today, says the Atchison Globe. There have always been alarmists. And hell has always seemed near. But here we are yet.

A New Way to grow LUXURIANT LAWNS Glorious Flowers.

NOW you can have velvety green lawns three weeks before your neighbors.

Not only that, but you can keep your lawn healthy and rich green in color throughout the entire season.

An amazing new lawn treatment has made these results possible. This treatment performs a double service—never offered to you before.

First, it brings to your lawns the stimulating nutriment which produces early, vigorous growth and insures hardy, full development.

Second, it affords soil disinfection which protects the grasses against "Brown-Patch" and other destructive diseases.

Leading golf clubs have used NU-GREEN for several years to keep their fine putting greens in perfect condition, but this is the first year that NU-GREEN is available to home-owners for their lawns.

This spring, give your lawn a three weeks' start over your neighbor's—and keep it luxuriant all season.

Fine for plants and shrubs, too. Brings blooms earlier; makes foliage greener—and protects against many soil diseases.

NU-GREEN is clean and easy to use. Simply add water and apply with sprinkling can.

1 pound NU-GREEN will treat 1,000 sq. ft.

1 lb. $2.00 5 lbs. $9.00

For the bride who is worth her weight in silver

CAPTAIN JOHN HULL, mint-master of Massachusetts and maker of the famous Pine Tree shillings, gave his daughter as a dowry her weight in the shining new coins. "Cherish her," he told his son-in-law, "for she is worth her weight in silver!"

For all modern brides who are worth their weight in silver the Pine Tree design in sterling silver is the most subtle of compliments for it is strikingly modern in treatment, strikingly beautiful in effect. On the back of each piece is the image of the pine tree exactly as it appeared on the Pine Tree shillings —not only an interesting decorative element but as of old an unmistakable indication of sterling genuineness.

We invite you to see our complete display of this lovely silver.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS
By H. IRVING KING

TO FIND THE BIRD'S NEST

THE vitality with which the ancient, primitive idea with regard to the magic potency of spital is still endued is shown by the fact that in Miss Bergen's "Animal and Plant Lore" she cites no less than 65 different superstitions now current in the United States regarding the saliva—and these are only a few which she has happened to run across; there are a great many more which might be added to the list. A mode of divination by saliva—not a very cleanly one but one very common among children everywhere—is for boys when they go out birdnesting to spit in the palm of the hand and then saying:

"Spitter, spatter, spat!
Tell me where's the bird's nest at,"

strike the palms of the left hand with the right forefinger. The direction in which the saliva flies shows the direction of the bird's nest. Probably no male reader of this but has performed this piece of primitive magic in his childhood. And, changing the rhyme to suit the case, children everywhere are accustomed to go through a like operation to discover the direction of any lost or hidden article. This rather insanitary and uncleanly mode of divination is a survival, changed but little if at all, of one practiced by the ancients and resting upon the idea of primitive man with regard to the qualities of the human saliva which was supposed not only to partake strongly of the individuality of the man himself but also to contain some inherent magical quality. Why primitive man conceived this magical quality to have existed in saliva is a matter of speculation. But it was so conceived and the belief in it was strong among the wise men and scholars of the classic period; as it is today among those who have faith in the superstitions of folklore. Pliny, the great Roman naturalist, had no doubts on the subject and wrote much and eruditely concerning it.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT
By F. A. WALKER

THE COMMON TATTLERS

ONE thing that accompanies the disreputable acts of tattlers, which is difficult to explain, is the supreme pleasure they take in assailing a good name.

The presence of two tattlers is so enchanting to each other that it seems as if it must be the best thing possible for the purification of a community wholly deficient of morals.

Character is thrown upon the gridiron and held over the seething flame of gossip until it is scorched and charred beyond recognition, and for no visible reason other than doing injury to persons of good repute, of whom these bearers of tales are more or less envious.

To do evil in this most insinuating evil art is to all external appearance the chief purpose of tattlers of every degree, from the coarse-languaged gossip on the street corner, to the censor of morals in the drawing-room, who enumerates, catalogues and classifies with malevolent intent, all the sins of which humanity is guilty.

The most hideous of these sins being laid usually at the door of the innocent.

To the common tattler, the essence of love, kindness and charity is unknown.

The young women, the women who are no longer classed as girls, and men just from college, to the gray-headed old fellows who have traveled life alone, because of a pain in their hearts, left there by the tragic death of the girls they had vowed to marry, all come in for a flagrant lashing of gossiping tongues.

Who can guess the terrible work these common tattlers are doing?

On every side of their path are heaps of broken hearts and wrecked homes.

Husbands and wives are ruthlessly parted. Children weep at the mention of their divorced parents' names.

Chaste girls are suddenly confronted by blackened characters, and cleanly, high-bred boys are smeared with the lees of corruption. And still society permits tattlers to go on unmolested, while virtue and honor plead tearfully before a deaf tribunal and pray for succor and strength to endure.

SAWS
By Viola Brothers Shore

FOR THE GOOSE—

IN THE country you got inconvenences. In the city you got neighbors. But in the suburbs you got both.

You can only be sure that your motives for doin' a brave thing was brave ones, if you did it when nobody was watchin'.

The less you use real silver, the quicker it tarnishes.

But, on the other hand we have a bracelet which leaves a black mark on the arm, but is still real gold.

FOR THE GANDER—

The one sure way to get rich quick, but the one that people is the least interested in hearin' about, is earning a lotta money and spendin' none.

They say this'd be a great world if everything in it was to be done twice. But what'd become of rare roast beef?

Look at the difference in size between an oak and a grapefruit and then look at the difference in the size of their fruit.

Evil Effect of Debt

To one that is not callous, a state of debt and embarrassment is a state of positive misery; the sufferer is as one haunted by an evil spirit, and his heart can know neither rest nor peace till it is cast out.—Bridges.

How Blood Travels

Assuming the heart to beat 60 times a minute at ordinary heart pressure, the blood courses through the veins at the rate of 207 yards in a minute, or seven miles an hour, 168 miles a day, and 61,320 miles a year.

Find Primitive Ideas of Medicine Sound

Washington.—Any custom that has held its own for generations usually has something back of it, no matter how little it appears to be supported by modern science, in the opinion of Hugh S. Cumming, surgeon general of the United States public health service.

"For a thousand years," he says, "the Chinese have prescribed the heads of a powdered toad fish as a remedy for heart trouble, and now adrelin, the most up-to-date drug for the treatment of heart disease, has been found to exist in the head glands of that fish.

"For generations the fact that American Indian hunters always chose the liver and the white men the meat when the animals they had trapped or killed were divided, was quoted as proof of their ignorance and primitive development.

"Yet in the last five years the great nutritive value of liver has come to be recognized and it is prescribed in cases of anemia."

Moose Unafraid of Man on Lake Superior Isle

Winnipeg.—Isle Royale, in Lake Superior, off Port Arthur, Ont., is of interest not only to the naturalist and advocate of conservation of wild life in North America, but to students of ancient civilizations on the continent as well, Frank M. Warren, vice president of the Minneapolis chapter of the Izaak Walton league, said at a reunion of the Veteran Scouts' association in Fort William.

Isle Royale lies in northern Lake Superior, 16 miles off the Canadian mainland. It teems with wild animal and bird life, the speaker said, and also was the scene of copper mining of ancient Americans. Ruined shaft houses and shallow pits there are to be excavated this summer by scientists from American universities studying these ancient people.

Mr. Warren said that several thousand moose live on the island without fear of man. Naturalists have been able to go there and carry on studies of moose and other wild life as in no other part of the country.
